Beat Charleston!

The consensus of opinion at the Sikeston High School and for that matter of the City at large is "Beat Charleston" Turkey Day. Bulldog gridders are working every day to perfect a scoring machine to meet the Bluejays more than halfway in their annual Thanksgiving Day clash.

New Car Or $600 In Cash Offered As First Award In Race For New Readers

Subscription Drive Just Started Offers Something To Every Participant—Weekly Pay To Each Worker

ENTER YOUR NAME NOW

Additional Award Being Offered For Promptness and Early Work—Subscriptions Earn More Votes Now Than Later in the Campaign

This is the opening day of the subscription campaign for The Sikeston Standard in which scores of local workers will receive big pay for their spare time. It is the aim of The Sikeston Standard to secure a reader in practically every home in the Sikeston trade teritory and at the same time give employment to many local men and women.

All who are interested in earning extra money should come at once to the office of The Sikeston Standard. Each worker is guaranteed a liberal commission of twenty per cent every Friday for the work he or she has done during the week, which means that each participant will be paid $1 out of every $5 subscription money collected and turned in to his or her credit.

This in itself is a good business proposition, but The Standard is doing much more; besides offering men and women weekly pay it is giving them the opportunity to earn the choice of a new automobile, a trip to Europe, or the cost of the trip which is $600 cash. Another person will earn the choice of a vacation trip to California or $200 cash. The persons finishing in third, fourth, fifth and sixth positions will each receive a cash bonus.

An Unusual Opportunity

This is a big proposition, created along such liberal lines that those who fail to take advantage of it are overlooking the greatest opportunity that may ever come to them. This campaign simply puts a premium on new and old subscriptions and home folks will get the benefit, for many local business firms are co-operating with The Standard and are accepting 5c coupons with every cash purchase of $1.

Everybody in this campaign will be engaged in other lines of work, which necessarily must receive first attention, but who will participate in the campaign because they are convinced that it is a worth while spare time proposition; that it is a true test of sales ability and that every detail will be caried out just as advertised. The workers will soon be calling on their friends and acquaintances for subscriptions to The Standard and when they do, remember that either a new or renewal subscription will bring untold encouragement to the worker and gives the subscriber a coupon book.

Pen-Pencil Free

Another interesting feature is that every one who enters this Weekly Payroll Subscription Campaign and turns in $20 or more with subscriptions on or before Monday, November 23, will be given a lovely "Dixie" pen-pencil combination, with a solid 14k gold pen point in an unbreakable pen holder together with a removable pencil end which has propel-repel-expel movement for the leads. You can easily make one of these your own.

Early Start Important

Turn to the big advertisement in this issue, and clip the entry coupon, write your name and address on it, then bring it to The Standard office, where the manager of the subscription campaign will gladly explain the details. You may enter your name or that of a friend but only one entry coupon for each participant.

It is advisable to start at once, for subscription money earns twice as many extra credits now as later in the campaign. It will pay you to make up your mind quickly, for there are hundreds of subscribers to be had for the mere asking. Get your first subscription today and ride home in your own automobile on December 23, or enjoy a trip to Europe or $600 cash to do with as you please.

You will never regret the time spent in this campaign, for you will be richly rewarded for your efforts. Everyone wins. You can win. If you enter you must win, as there can be no losers in this campaign.

BAKER TELLS HOW U. S. CAN ADVANCE PEACE OF WORLD

Boston, November 17.—Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War under President Wilson, today asserted the United States should take steps to preserve the peace of the world by exercising its power as a creditor nation.

Baker, speaking at a Boston Chamber of Commerce luncheon on "The Debts of a Creditor Nation", advocated a policy of refusing to sell products necessary to war to aggressor nations that have subscribed to arbitration treaties; urged that this country during the next session of Congress enter the World Court, and said debtors should be permitted to pay their debts to America by an exchange of products.

He advocated the revival and passage in the Senate of the Capper resolution. This would set up as this country's policy a refusal to lend its benevolent neutrality as a market for the products needed in waging war to aggressor nations that have agreed by treaty to submit differences to arbitration.

Baker urged entry into the World Court which he described as an institution obviously right and just and said such action would be an inspiration to the cause of peace throughout the world.

Debtors of this country, he asserted, should be permitted to pay in the same way as this country repaid its creditors in Europe in 1790—through an exchange of products. He opposed the hindrance of such exchange by the erection of tariff barriers.

In beginning his address, Baker said that he spoke simply as a business man and a lawyer to discuss problems with business men with no thought of politics in his mission.

Touching upon the question of tariff, Baker said the change in the status of the United States from a debtor nation to a creditor nation, with the rest of the world owing it the largest debt in history, had imposed great obligations upon it. He said that if the United States expected the rest of the world to pay it the $20,000,000,000 debt owed the United States, the latter must permit its debtors to exchange their products with it.

He said that he hoped the next Congres would effect a horizontal reduction in tariff rates.

He said our capitalistic system should be sufficiently flexible to adjust itself to changing economic conditions and that the United States must set its economic house in order so that the people will not need to look toward Russia to find a contented people, even if they are poor.

He refered humorously to our intercourse with the League of Nations, saying that we appeared to "be getting along nicely" with the League. He said we had two Consuls at Geneva, one of whom sits in "unashamed" at the League sessions. "However," he said, "I should feel more honest if the United States at least paid its share of the rent for the buildings in Geneva".

The Red Cross Quoto Lacking Come Again

As far as collections are concerned, Sikeston has almost "gone over the top", in the current Red Cross Roll Membership Drive, but the number of memberships in the National organization is far short of the quota, 700. In order to bring that number to the minimum figure mentioned, F. E. Mount, County Chairman, suggests that a special effort be made to secure 300 addition $1-memberships this week and next.

In many instances subscribers during the drive gave from $5.00 to $100, applying $1 to their membership cost and giving the balance as a donation. As a result the Sikeston Chapter treasury benefits accordingly, but to show the proper spirit of appreciation for the work of the National Chapter in this and surrounding districts last year, and in 1927, officials are anxious that full quota of memberships be reached. Workers and captains of the drive point out that those who were missed in the first visits last Thursday and Friday could easily bring the Sikeston quota up to par and over. A special appeal is being made to them in the following letter from Mr. Mount, to please bring or mail their $1.00 membership to any person connected with the drive, or to H. E. Dudley, Secretary or to C. C. White, County Treasurer.

Mr. Mount's statement follows:

It certainly is gratifying and I very much appreciate the ready response by our people in contributing so liberally to our local Chapter of the American Red Cross. To date our local people have been very generous in the giving of their means and at the rate we are yet going we will be able to show a greater contribution than at roll call time last year. However, we are running so much lower in membership that it is just a little humiliating.

Especially when we take into consideration that only a year ago the National treasurer was so liberal with us just at a time when we most needed their assistance. I really think we should feel grateful enough to show our appreciation by meeting the requirements or the goal set for us in memberships by the National Chapter, which is eight hundred fifty memberships for Scott County.

If our workers have by accident or otherwise overlooked any who are willing to enroll at the small cost of $1, won't you be kind and courageous enough to either hand this amount to me or to Harry Dudley, our County Secretary, or to C. C. White, our County Treasurer? Or if you live in any other part of the County, get in touch with the officials of your local jurisdiction and make your contribution to them. It will certainly be appreciated, and you can't carry a better insurance policy against hunger and cold for many times the amount. Last Sunday morning I met our fellow townsman, W. P. Lindley and he immediately caught sight of my button and said to me: 'Your solicitors missed me and I just went 'round and gave them my dollar anyway as I wanted to continue as a member'. Now folks, that is the spirit. Mr. Lindley evidently has two suits of clothes as he said he had changed and had forgotten his button and did not want to go on to Sunday school without one, so he borrowed one from Mr. White.

How it would lighten the burden of your chairman and the workers if we just had about one-sixth of our population as game and courageous as our fellow citizen, W. P. Lindley. One little girl, Alma Dye, gave Harry C. Young a penny and asked that she be given credit for this as her donation. Who will volunteer to buy that little girl a membership card and a button?

We can't all be rich, but we can all get hungry and cold. Come forward folks like you were going to an old-time mourners' bench and let's do our full duty to this noble cause by bringing Sikeston's quota in membership to its full 700. I believe you will do it.—F. E. Mount, County Chairman Red Cross.

APOLLO GROUP TO SPONSOR SPLENDID PROGRAM FRIDAY

The public is invited to attend a program of organ, piano, violin and voice sponsored by the Apollo Group, at the Methodist Church Friday evening at 3:30 o'clock. A silver offering will be lifted.

Very few small towns have the variety of talent to offer to compare with that on the following program.

Frederick Clairbourne is a violinist of first rate ability. Students of music here always enjoy vocal numbers by Mrs. H. E. Reuber, and everyone is acquainted with the ability of Mrs. Tom Allen, Mrs. Inez Anderson, Mrs. Frank Van Horne and Mrs. H. J. Welsh at the organ and piano.

The program as announced by Mrs. L. L. Conatzer, chairman of the committee, follows:

Kamennoi—Ostrow by Rubinstein
Organ, Mrs. Anderson; piano, Mrs. Tom Allen

Blind Girl's Song (La Gioconda) by Ponchielli
Miss Cavernor

Water Lily—Organ by Floyd, St. Clair
Miss Kathryn Clark

Mrs. Ralph Anderson

JURY REACHES VERDICT ON FOURTH ATTEMPT IN SCOTT COUNTY HEARING

Benton, November 18.—The E. C. Robinson Lumber Co. of Charleston was awarded a verdict of $287 by a jury in Circuit Court here Tuesday in a suit against the Johnson Construction Co. on a lumber bill in 1930. The construction company was working on the levee near East Prarie at the time the lumber was said to have been purchased. Officials of the construction company said they never received the lumber. The jury reported three times that it could not reach a verdict but each time Judge Frank Kelly sent it back and the fourth time they came to an agreement, nine of the jurors signing the verdict.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

IN MEMORIUM

In memory of our dear husband and father, who passed away one year ago today, November 19, 1930:

Try as we will, we can't understand,
Why Nature has treated us so.
It's just a small year,
Since Dad was here,
And we wonder why he had to go.
Since he has gone we often recall
What a blessing we had, and we sigh,
For we know future years,
Will often bring tears,
As once again we bid Dad goodbye.

Wife and Daughters.

In loving memory of my dear father who was called home one year ago today, November 19, 1930:

Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dear and loved by all,
Honorable and upright in all his ways,
Faithful and true to the end of his days,
A loving father, gentle and kind,
What beautiful memories he left behind
For all on earth he did his best,
Until God gave him eternal rest.

Mo. Pac. Refuses to Cooperate With City In Granting Switching Privilege On Spur Track

The Missouri Pacific Railroad thru its representative C. C. Chapman, Poplar Buff, refuses absolutely to cooperate with the City of Sikeston in granting switching privileges on the spur which passes the Municipal Light Plant. The refusal was made this week by Mr. Chapman, even though one-half of the track in question is located on City property.

City officials and members of the Board of Public Works have refrained from giving public utterance to the question of obtaining switching privileges, and early this summer placed the matter into the hands of a Council committee for amicable settlement. Only in rare instance would the switch be used by any other railroad except the Missouri Pacific, but two instances in the recent past have brought the necessity for switching rights from the Frisco Lines, prominently to the fore.

In one case, the Missouri Pacific Railroad waited approximately ten days before switching a car of fuel oil from Frisco to the Missouri Pacific tracks. In another case it required approximately seven days. Delays are sometimes expensive, and might easily cause a critical situation at the Municipal Plant through shortage of fuel oil.

Although Mr. Pepper extended the usual courtesy of taking up this matter with the proper officials, first in Sikeston and then through the Poplar Bluff district office instead of bringing it to the attention of "higher ups", Chapman has intimated that he would request a meeting of the Board of Public Works at which he "would bring pressure to bear" to have the matter dropped.

In view of the fact that the Missouri State Highway Department, the International Shoe Factory, Weltecke Lumber Company, Mill B, and Robinson Lumber Company have switching privileges, and in view of the fact that the Missouri Pacific spur is partially located on City property, City officials believed that the matter of merely granting switching rights would be easily obtained.

On June 1 a letter from Dan G. Pepper, Superintendent of the Board of Public Works, to the local agent, J. E. Robinson, requested that local railroad property be served by the local plant. The letter was ignored.

Another letter by Mr. Pepper, dated October 15, requested data relative to switching facilities, as follows:

"Please arrange to see us immediately so that we can determine your right-of-way line adjacent to our electric light plant building, and help us stake off a siding on our property.

Your siding now is on part of our property and it will be necessary for you to move these tracks and part of the loading platform, so that we can build a track of our own.

We would also like to have you submit to us a price on installing for us a two-car switch, you furnishing the rails and ties, also with us furnishing rails and ties.

We want this information no later than November 1, 1931.

This letter was also ignored.

In the latter instance, J. E. Robinson, local agent, passed the information contained in Mr. Pepper's letter to Mr. Chapman, superintendent.

The request of October 15 was repeated in a note dated November 9, in which Mr. Pepper writes:

"On October 15th, we wrote you a letter asking for information not later than November 1, 1931, and you have not granted us the courtesy of a reply.

"Mr. Robinson, in my recent conversation with you, it was explained by you that the letters had been forwarded to your superiors and we feel that you have done your part, but request that you get us a reply without further delay.

"This attitude on the part of the Msisouri Pacific does not invite business and is against the ethics of any reliable company, and I trust that it is only an oversight.

Very truly yours,
BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS,
Dan G. Pepper, Supt.

Mr. Chapman visited Mr. Pepper last Monday, November 16, and in so many words, informed the local man that Sikeston would not get a track, or switching privileges. Chapman stated that he had influential friends to block any move to get one, and quoted the Poplar Bluff situation where, he claims, the railroad company has a man on the board, and got what they wanted. He left the definite impression that a spur would cost $15,000, whereas it is a matter of common knowledge that the spur could be built for a few hundred.

Mr. Pepper praised the attitude of Mr. Robinson, who has done everything in his power to co-operate, and to give Sikeston what it asks. Chapman was advised that the attitude of the Missouri Pacific would not invite business, and was against the ethics of any reliable business concern.

QUILT EXHIBIT BY CO-WORKERS TUESDAY FAVORABLY RECEIVED

The annual quilt exhibit, bazaar and tea sponsored by the Co-Workers of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. Jennie Sikes Tuesday afternoon was well attended, netting the group approximately $50.

Two quilts which attracted an unusual amount of attention were exhibited by Mrs. Harry Sharp. One a coverlet made of hand-dyed yarn, and figured in blue and white was made in 1845. It was monogramed "I. N." by Mr. Sharp's great-grandmother. The other was made by Mrs. Jane Watkins, great-grandmother of Mrs. Sharp in 1819. It was peculiar and interesting in that the spread carried a center design, a circle enclosing 22 stars, one for each of the States at that time. It was finished with a ruffle with a hand-turned hem, and is yellow with age.

A pair of mittens made by Martha Eastwood, mother of Mrs. Emelia Smith for the latter's husband in 1876 were exhibited, as was a hook rug made of old clothing by Mrs. John Young. Coloring in the latter piece of work was exceptional.

The house was beautifully decorated with 'mums'. The table in the dining room contained a centerpiece of Maderia cloth and a center decoration of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Alfred Sikes and Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Jr., poured.

The following program was rendered:

Vocal solos—"Cradle Song" by Kreisler and "Sally Roses" by Bostelman—Mrs. H. E. Reuber

Piano duets—"Hungarian Dances" by Brohus—Mrs. O. T. Elder and Mrs. F. W. Van Horne

Vocal Solos—"Indian Dawn" by Zamemecnik, and "Ma' Lindy Lou" by Strickland—Mrs. L. L. Conatzer

Reading—"The Land of Beginning Again"—Mrs. Oscar Carroll.

Musical readings—"Trees" by Kilner and "Grandma Pays the Bill" by Ryckoff—Mrs. Moore Greer

LAND SALES CONTINUE TO INCREASE OVER 1930

St. Louis, November 17.—With a sales record of nearly twice that of the first nine months of 1930, Wood Netherland, president of The Federal Land Bank of this city, told the representatives of 70 farm loan associations from eastern Missouri territory that there is a demonstrated growing demand for farms in Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas. "During the first nine months last year the bank and the national farm loan associations of this district sold farms for a total valuation of $407,000 and this year the total has already reached $934,000. Last year we thought we sensed an increased demand for farms, but it was very slight compared to what we have experienced this year.

"Farm prices are in about the same position as prices of wheat and cotton a few weeks ago—below the cost of production. Actualy, farms can still be purchased at less than the cost of clearing, fence and erecting the buildings, and when prices are that low, they cannot remain there long, not when there are thousands of people in the towns and cities deciding that the farm is a better place to live and make a living than their present habitats".

Only two days left to see the Majestic range demonstration at Dempsters.

Mrs. B. F. Chambers and son visited Mrs. Chambers' mother, Mrs. W. R. Johnson, at Aid, Mo., Saturday.

N. M. Cobb of Bloomfield was a visitor for a short time Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Ellis. His condition has not improved very much.

TWO 4-H CLUBS ORGANIZED AT PARMA LAST TUESDAY

A Sow and Litter Club with an enrollment of approximately 17 boys was organized with Professor Jump as the local leader. The boys will begin keeping their records some time after the 1st of December. Plans are being made for each of them to secure a sow and the necessary place in which to keep her.

Baking Club was organized among the girls with Mrs. Floyd Gale as the local leader. The girls will begin work within the next few days. There is also to be organized a Garment Making 1, and a Garment Making 11 Club as well as a Poultry Club.

The boys and girls of Parma are enthusiastic about Club work, and the ladies, parents and teachers of Parma are to be congratulated upon their help and encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Harrell of Chickasha, Okla., stopped overnight Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Schroff, enroute home. Mr. and Mrs. Harrell attended funeral services for Mr. Harrell's father in Omaha, Ill., last Sunday.

Jefferson Potlocks and wife were in Bounding Billows Saturday with several of their children. Jeff said all the rest of them wanted to come along, but they had to stay at home and look after the baby.—Commercial Appeal.

C. OF C. HOLDS BOOSTER MEETING

A group of fourteen representative business men representing almost evrey line of retail merchandising in Sikeston met as a called committee of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, Del Rey Hotel, to discuss plans to boost Christmas business, and to consider ways and means of securing special lighting effects in the downtown district during the holidays.

Several plans were discussed, including one to advertise Sikeston as a trading center in nearby newspapers over the signature of the Chamber of Commerce. Another speaker developed the thought that the free "gold" idea carried out last year was worthy of repetition. Various schemes of prize drawings, bargain and sales days, and direct advertising appeals were discussed. A committee was appointed by Lyle Malone, president, to consider every possible scheme and method and to report to the larger group within the next week. Ernest Harper heads the smaller group, and will be assisted by Nathan Yoffee, Gene Potashnick, Bill Foley and Benny Topper.

The Chamber of Commerce group was unanimously of the opinion that some plan should be worked out whereby business streets would again be decorated during the holidays. This matter will soon be placed in the hands of a special committee to be announced later through both Sikeston newspapers.

Only two days left to see the Majestic range demonstration at Dempsters.

COURT REDUCES RATE FOR FOOD FOR PRISONERS

Poplar Bluff, November 17.—Butler County prisoners will have to live on rations costing 60 cents a day, beginning January 1, it was decided by the county court yesterday just before the close of the days business.

The court decided that 75 cents a day allotted for feeding prisoners in the county jail is too much, and that the cost must come down. A reduction of 15 cents per day on each prisoner was decided upon.

So far as is known here, Butler county will be the only county possibly in the State with allowance of less than 75 cents per day for board for prisoners. The federal government, which is using the Butler County jail as a federal jail, makes a standard allowance of 75 cents per day.

Feeding prisoners is a duty of the sheriff, who employs a deputy to transport the food to the court house and to supervise prisoners during meal hours. It is presumed that the quantity of rations provided for prisoners will have to be reduced in accordance with the allowance.

Another expense reduction decided upon by the court recently was to eliminate $50 per month jail guard allowance which the sheriff has been receiving for a number of years. That was the only regular pay which the sheriff received from the county, the rest of his salary being in fees.

It is with sincere regrets that we heard of the death of Mrs. Henrietta Hall, wife of Silas Hall of the Matthews vicinity, which occurred Tuesday morning of this week. This splendid woman has been afflicted with cancer for the past two years and suffered untold agony before death came to her relief. She was a frequent visitor to The Standard office and we learned to regard her with great respect and were always sympathetic and encouraging. As there was no chance for her recovery, it was a blessing that her suffering was ended.

The chilly winds of November have arrived which reminds us that perhaps we were not just as appreciative of the splendid fall that the good Lord has sent to us as we should. No better could have been wished for up to Tuesday afternoon when a light rain fell with a threatened change in the weather.

Folks from Sikeston who attended the Legion meeting at Kennett recently were not at all pleased with the meal set before them for which a charge of fifty cents was made. Several have been ill from eating of the food. Next year the Legion is to hold their reunion in Sikeston. The local Post, of course, will be in charge of the program, but it should be the duty of every individual to assist the Post in making this meeting the outstanding one to date. Sikeston has a number of noted cooks who could join and prepare a feast that would be thoroughly enjoyed and the cost would be at the minimum. This event is a year off, but there is no better time to begin plans than now.

We were rather surprised at the attitude taken by Missouri Pacific officials at Popar Bluff when application was made for switching privilege over their tracks to the Municipal Light and Power Plant. Several letters on the subject were sent to the officials but up to Tuesday afternoon, they were treated with silent content—just the public be damned attitude of years ago. When small underlings refuse to even answer business communications, then the matter should be taken up with President Baldwin at St. Louis, who will say yes or no p. d. q.

One of the greatest temptations that has come our way in many a day was at the Armory dance Monday evening when we were an interested spectator for a short while. A very splendid young woman asked us to dance with her just a few rounds, and when we hesitated, we were lost. And if we had gotten out on the floor with her, we would probably have been lost or crippled. Then, again, we knew the Missus was home finishing a quilt to keep us warm this winter—and we were afraid.

The Standard has hesitated for a long time to put on a contest of any sort, but as the time has come for a national audit of our list in order to verify our subscription list with both local and foreign advertisers, we had the opportunity to hook up with the gentlemen in charge of the contest and took advantage of same. The Standard is pledged to make good all prizes offered which should be sufficient guarantee that this contest will be strictly on the square. DAY BY DAY WITH GOVERNOR PATTERSON

If there is any virtue in having a multitude of doctors and remedies to cure our ills the thing we call business depression would soon be only an unhappy memory.

President Hovoer has now offered another panacea, his latest, after all his other prescriptions have failed.

It is in brief for the government to set up a loan system by which an era of home construction may be entered into by the people for the partial relief of the unemployed.

Mr. Hoover thinks by making it easy for the people to borrow money to build homes and engage in our building enterprises, that jobs will be found for many of the jobless and more money will be put into circulation.

The first thought which occurs in connection with the above proposition of the president is how far and fast we are moving in the direction of government control in the affairs of the people. It will not be long if the present movement continues before the men who created our government would not recognize their handiwork, could they return to life and view the great changes which have occurred and those that are proposed.

The drift towards centralization and absolutism has set in and the tide is running strong. Perhaps no single hand can stay it.

The next thought which comes to mind and naturally suggesting itself is the confused state of mind of Mr. Hoover who has either been deceiving himself, or has assumed the people have become so gullible that they will catch at anything promising relief. If we think back for a moment we can see how true this is.

The president first proposed with a blare of the publicity trumpets, and with the stage all set at Washington that now was the time for the government to begin great works of internal improvements by which thousands would be put to work. Supplementing what the government was to do, big business promised its co-operation, and all this was handed out as the great scheme to relieve the depression. It all went up in smoke. Nothing came of it. Instead of entering into a vast construction program, the president is now for cutting expenses to the bone. Big business went home from the meeting at Washington and began not to extend its work, but to reduce salaries, cut down the number of its employes, and curtail operating costs at every possible point.

Next came the moratorium which was ostensbily to aid Germany but really to protect huge American investments in that country. Following that is the present idea of home construction accompanied by beautiful sentiments about home and its meaning to the people, to all of which everybody will agree.

The proposition of entering into an era of general building, and particularly home construction, when boiled down is for the people to do what the government has failed to accomplish. It is an invitation for them to go further in debt, at a time when economy is being otherwise preached from the housetops, and the people are already loaded down with mortgages and taxes on their property.

These facts are lost sight of or ignored. Then, too, thousands of homes all over the country are today unoccupied. Apartment and office buildings are only partially tenanted. It is a fine thing to relieve unemployment but it cannot be acomplished in the way suggested by the president.

His scheme is impractical and under the circumstances absurd.

It would have been the part of wisdom on the president's part if he had tried to prevent unemployment, rather than in now proposing unworkable schemes for its relief. He should have foreseen some of the results of the present high tariff bill, which has curtailed our trade abroad and stagnated busines at home, throwing millions out of their jobs.—Commercial Appeal.

MANY COMMON FOODS SUPPLY IRON IN DIET

Iron, which is essential to the formation of sufficient red corpuscles in the blood, is obtainable from a wider range of foods than most people realize. Liver has been greatly emphasized as a source of this important mineral, and many children have been told to eat spinach because of the iron it contained. Raisins, too, are frequently advertised as an especially palatable and easily obtained iron-rich food.

In response to many requests the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, has compiled a list of common animal and vegetable foods which are rich in iron. The amount obtained from any one food is small, says the bureau, and it is well to include liberal quantities of iron-rich foods in the diet.

Egg yolk heads the list. It is not only one of the best means of supplying the body with iron, but it also contains phosphorus and calcium, minerals needed to build bones, teeth, and other tissues. Next on the list come meats, particularly liver, kidney, brain and heart; also lean muscle of beef, veal, pork and lamb. Oysters and shrimp are mentioned among sea foods.

Several green-leaf vegetables share with spinach the distinction of being rich in iron. The list includes turnip and beet tops, chard, dandelion and mustard greens, watercress, kale, New Zealand spinach, and broccoli leaves.

The dried fruits are a good source of iron. Apricots, peaches, currants, dates, figs, and prunes all vie with raisins in this respect. The whole-grain flours or cereals are important, particularly wheat, barley, rye, and oats. Molasses ranks high. Sorghum and cane sirups are also mentioned. Many legumes are listed, both fresh and in the form of dried seed, such as limas, lentils, common or kidney beans, cowpeas, and common peas. Almonds, hazelnuts, walnuts, pecans, and hickory nuts also supply some iron.

Common colds in the poultry flock are often forerunners of flu, or infectious bronchitis, a disease which has caused heavy losses in recent years. It is more prevalent in fall and winter. Prevention of infectious bronchitis includes sanitary measures such as cleaning and disinfecting premises, isolating sick birds, burning or burying carcasses, and providing comfortable, roomy, well-ventilated poultry houses. No cure has yet been discovered for this disease. Congress has made an appropriation for study of its cause, treatment, and control.

WORLD'S LARGEST SOYBEAN COLLECTION IS HARVESTED

More than 2000 varieties of soybeans, comprising the largest collection of its kind in the world, are being harvested this year at the experiment farm of the United States Department of Agriculture at Arlington, Va. The soybeans were brought from Japan, China, Manchuria, Korea, and Formosa by W. J. Morse, who spent two years studying and collecting them.

Growing all these varieties at the Arlington Farm of the department is the first step in introducing new varieties in different regions of this country. Next year seed from these soybeans will be sent to experiment stations in various parts of the country for further testing. No seed will be available for general distribution, however.

Soybeans are being used in many experiments. In Japan the soybean is popular as a green vegetable. Many Japanese varieties are being tried in this country as green beans and the Bureau of Home Economics of the department is making cooking tests with different varieties as a green vegetable. In Manchuria the soybean is grown chiefly for the oil and oil meal which are made from it. About 30 varieties are commonly grown in the United States, but these are mainly for forage and grain. Soybean oil is being used to some extent in the manufacture of paint and other products which require a drying oil.

NIGHT AIR MAIL PILOT TURNS IN FIVE ALARMS

Kirksville.—For the fifth time in three years, Lewis Gravis, mail pilot sounded his plane fire alarm recently to save the lives of sleeping people in a burning house. Flying the night mail from Kansas City to Chicago, he noticed a dwelling ablaze and circled it with his Hornet motor wide open, remaining in the vicinity until he saw the occupants escape through the windows.

One-third of the farms in this country yield as much as $220 worth of timber a year. The annual farm forest crop is worth nearly $400,000,000.

Liver is one of the most important meats in respect to the protein and calories it furnishes the body, ranking with round and sirloin steak. Liver also contains all three vitamins. No distinction in food value is made between the various kinds of meat liver. Chicken liver is slightly higher in protein than the others.

CANNON CRITICISES BROADCASTING BAN

Washington, November 15.—The action taken by the Federal Radio Commission Friday in refusing to renew the license of broadcasting station KGEF, Trinty Methodist Church, South, Los Angeles, Cal., from which Rev. Robert P. (Fighting Bob) Shuler has made attacks to which the commission took exception upon individuals and religious organizations, was sharply challenged tonight by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who contended that the decision was revolutionary, and of nation-wide importance.

Bishop Cannon, who headed the Southern drys in the fight against the election of former Gov. Smith of New York in the 1928 presidential campaign, said that the commission did not stop radio broadcasts by Gov. Smith when, he said, the latter denounced prohibitionists as "intolerable bigots" who opposed him because of his religion.

The Bishop also said that the action of the commission would be applauded by the "baser elements of society". In his statement, he asked: "Has any officer or commission of our government authority to prevent Protestant ministers from denouncing on the radio the effort of the Romish hierarchy to destroy the eighteenth amendment by electing as President its obedient son, Alfred Emanuel Smith?"

SPEND $4,000,000 ON ADDED F-TO-M ROADS

Jefferson City.—Counties which can and will provide the State Highway Department with free right-of-way for farm-to-market roads will benefit during the coming winter in the expenditure of something like $4,000,000 that the department finds will be available for construction of that kind in addition to the regular program.

The $4,000,000 is a "windfall" that has accrued all through the present season by reduced prices for road building materials, and was reflected in the difference between the bids of contractors and the estimated cost of the construction they bid on.

To be exact, bids of contractors during the past year on contracts for construction of the highway system have totaled $5,250,000 less than the estimated cost of the work made by the engineers of the commission. That is the reason why there will be an extra $4,000,000 that can be expended during the winter months on farm-to-market roads.

On top of this $4,000,000, the commission and Chief State Highway Engineer T. H. Cutler have made contracts for $10,000,000 for winter construction, the stipulation in all cases being that local labor, where available, must be used, and that as little machinery be used as possible in order to provide employ for hand labor.

State forest nurseries have furnished large number of black walnut seedlings for plantings on farms this year. In North Carolina 42,000 walnut seedlings were reserved for use of the National 4-H Clubs for spring and fall planting. In Caldwell County 85 club members planted 45 trees each last year. Records will be kept on the plantings which were partly financed by a local chamber of commerce. Foresters recommend that walnut trees be planted in rich, deep soil that is well drained. They are frequently planted in fence corners, field corners, ditch or stream banks, large openings in the woods, and deep pockets of soil about rocky outcrops in the field.

Milder because they're fresh

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FOLKS who smoke really fresh cigarettes made from choice sun-ripened tobaccos never have to give a thought to their throats.

That's because such fresh cigarettes retain natural moisture—and are gratefully smooth, cool, throat-friendly, mild.

Camels are the fresh cigarette—everyone knows that now—they're blended from the finest Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that money and skill can buy.

We would never dream of parching or toasting these choice sun-ripened tobaccos—that would only drive off or destroy the natural moisture that makes Camels fresh in nature's own mild way.

The Camel Humidor Pack protects a fine cigarette fresh with natural moisture—it could do little or nothing to freshen a cigarette that is dried-out or factory-stale.

If you smoke for pleasure, see for yourself what freshness means in mildness and flavor—switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

AS I SEE IT

By I'm About Town

The claim that negroes are inferior mentally to whites has been broadcast more or less during the past fifty years. Those who made a business of demanding proof for common assertions have pretty well disproved this contention. We can let this wrangle alone, however, in favor of the following point. Negroes can teach white folks a thing or two about sticking up for their kind, keeping their mouth shut, and solving their own problems.

An instance comes to mind in the case of the fellow held in the city jail Monday. He had visitors from seven o'clock that morning until late that night. He had a percolator of hot coffee, sugar and good cream, food of the finest quality, and company. Some of the eats were probably borrowed from kicthens about town, but the point is that his cullud buddies did not turn high hat over night. They played the game.

The writer numbers among his friends several of the darker folks, but do you suppose one of the gang would as much as tell the truth as to why Jones was behind the bars. Not by a jugfull.

"Nassah, Mistah Art, I dunno just why for dey has him in de jail. Ain't foun' out myself".

We knew they were lying flatfootedly, but admired their ability to forget.

The writer is donating this space for additional appeal for $1.00 Red Cross memberships. J. Ernest Harper and the writer were appointed captains of Ward 1. The district was combed thoroughly by competent workers, but the Ward fell down on its membership quota. Right now while you're thinking about it, sit down and fold up a dollar bill, drop it into the mail addressed to Harper or Wallhausen, care of The Standard office, and let's get the agony over with.

Quite a few women were out of town last Thursday during the drive. Others were visiting, taking a bath, or powdering their nose when the workers called, and consequently couldn't answer the door. More of them referred the workers to hubby.

CORRECTION

In the Kroger ad, printed elsewhere in this section, tomatoes are quoted at 10 cents per pound, when it should have read: Two pounds, 25c.

Put the excuses aside for the time being, and let's have a flood of dollar bills to bring that Ward 1—the Silk Stocking Ward, if you please, up to a decent figure.

Thirty-seven bucks and only thirty memberships from one of the finest wards in the city is nothing to crow about.

This time of year is the beginning of a long night for the trees as they are now shedding their clothes preparing to rest and sleep until time to wake up in the spring and put on their new suit of green. Some of them, like humans, die in their sleep or are cut down to make room for other purposes that the Supreme Being wills.

Some talk has been going the rounds that more than one hundred Sikeston automobiles or trucks had been operating without having paid the 1931 city license or tax. The fact is: 702 paid and less than 50 have not. It is not the duty of the City Collector to tie up these cars, if they do not pay, but the duty of the Police Chief. If these delinquents had paid the money could have been used to advantage, and no one should be permitted to operate a car at all without license tags.

One of the menaces that should be abated is the one-eyed cars that you see so mnay of on highways and streets. It is hard to tell whether it is the right eye that is shining or whether it is the left eye. Every car driven with but one light should be taken in charge by patrolmen or police officer, and held until put in proper order to take the road without menacing lives in other cars.

FIELD IS BEST PLACE TO SELECT SEED CORN —Julian

The field is the best place to select seed corn for next year's planting, says County Agent Scott M. Julian. In the corn belt most farmers select their seed from the field, although in Southeast Missouri it is more the practice to select in the crib. In selecting corn in the field, ears which hang down should be selected because this tendency prevents water from running down into the ear and molding and rotting the grain.

Ears should be taken from stalks which have two good ears and it is advisable to select ears which are grown at the proper height on the stalks. Ears produced too high retard shucking and make the gathering more expensive. Seed corn should be stored carefully, and if possible hung out of reach of rats and mice. It is always best to nub and but the seed ears before planting. While proper selecting for seed for one year will not get all of the desired characteristics this selection over a period of years will show results, and is much better than merely picking out good ears from a crib.

Moisture stored in the kernels of popcorn is converted into steam when the corn is heated, and it is the pressure of this steam which causes popcorn to pop. Corn will not pop well if it contains too little or too much moisture, say cereal specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Popcorn stored where it is in contact with the outside air usually will have the right amount of moisture for popping. If it is too moist exposure in a heated room will dry it out. If it is too dry sprinkle it lightly with water and leave it in a tight container for a day or two, until the moisture is absorbed. Corn pops best when the fire is hot enough to make it begin to pop in about one and one-half minutes.

MAGAZINE DESCRIBES FIRST USE OF ANESTHETIC, IN BOSTON, 1846

High up under the dome of Boston's Massachusetts General Hospital, far removed from the wards so that the screams of sufferers under the knife will not horrify the ward patients, is the Hospital's famed operating amphitheatre. Many a medical student dreads the operations he is priviledged to watch, frequently faints. But one day last week Dr. John C. Warren, Boston surgeon, led a group of surgeons and students (class of 1847) up the long stars, eager, hurrying.

For there beckoned an interesting experiment—surgery without pain. Dr. William Thomas Green Morton, 27-year old Boston dentist, thought it possible, had experimented to that end with either, a volatile, pungent chemical compound capable of producing insensibility. He had tried it on animals, on himself, then on his patients while extracting the roots of decayed teeth. Finally he had obtained permission from Dr. Warren to let him test his drug before an audience. One Gilbert Abbott, with a tumor on his neck, was to be the first trial.

At 11 a. m. the last privileged student hurried into the amphitheatre. Experimentee Abbott, fidgeting on the operating table, looked anxiously at the clock. Casual talk ceased, sudden silence prevailed as the minute-hand crawled past the hour, and Dr. Morton did not appear. "He and his anesthetic! Humbugs both, no doubt!" mumbled a doctor. It became five minutes past eleven, ten, then a quarter after. The patient stirred uneasily, Dr. Warren selected an instrument, advanced to the table—useless to delay proceedings any longer. As his knife poised for the incision, Dr. Morton, breathless, apologetc, rushed in. He held in one hand a curious globe-and-tube appartus.

In eager concentration, tensely expectant, the waiting group of surgeons and students watched whie the newcomer—a charlatan perhaps, a genius possibly—adjusted his peculiar inhaling apparatus to the patient's mouth and with tense composure adminstered his anesthetic. Veiled skepticism revealed itself when the patient reacted suddenly in wild exhilaration, but this exuberance subsided, relaxation took its place, then unconsciousness. Skepticism was routed, amazement paramount. Said Dentist Morton to Surgeon Warren: "Your patient is ready".

Dr. Warren began to operate, proceeded quickly, in five minutes had finished. From the patient came no cry of pain, no agony of distress, only slight movements, mumbled words as from one who stirs on the borderland of sleep . . .

"This, gentleman", exclaimed Surgeon Warren, "is no humbug".

Awake, Gilbert Abbott said, "I felt no pain".—Reprint from Time, Magazine.

CENTRAL PREPARES FOR ANNUAL HOMECOMING FRI.

Fayett, Mo.—Central College is preparing this week for her annual Homecoming celebration, to which 15,000 alumni and former students in all parts of Missouri and additional thousands from other States have been invited. The Homecoming program, which will open officially with a student pep meeting Thursday night, will have as its climax the Central-Westminster football classic, to be played on Davis Field in Fayette Friday afternoon.

Only two days left to see the Majestic range demonstration at Dempsters.

A total of 5500 grade crossings have been eliminated on Federal aid roads since 1917, says the Bureau of Public Roads.

AS I SEE IT

By I'm About Town

Kennett Turner, manager of Senbaugh's Y Station, gave us a look see into the barbecue pit last Friday when eight nice juicy bits of pork were sizzling and sputtering over a bed of genuine hickory coals. Anyone troubled with a sluggish appetite need only smell the delicious aroma of hams being barbecued to experience pangs of real hunger. Ask Albert Humphreys for confirmation.

And we learn from Ruth McCoy that Campfire girls are not the same as Girl Scouts. Sikeston boasts of the latter brand of female scouters.

One of the best stories of the year is that connected with the $3.00 piece of blackbery pie devoured by Elmos Taylor, our genial city collector.

It seems that during blackberry season a farmer offered two gallons of fruit to Mrs. Taylor for 20 cents per gallon.

"No, guess I won't take them", Mrs. Taylor is quoted as saying. "'You see I'm planning on going out tomorrow for some, and I'll pick all I want for nothing".

Tomorrow came. Mrs. Taylor and son, her father and Elmos' father went a berrying. They picked two gallons of fruit. The car broke down and repairs cost Elmos $37.70. He estimates that the piece of pie consumed last Friday cost him in the neighborhood of $3.00.

24 CONOCO MEN ATTEND ETHYL DEMONSTRATION

A district meeting of Continental Oil Company representatives held at the Del Rey Hotel dining room Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, was attended by twenty-four men, who witnessed a demonstration of Ethyl gasoline staged by L. L. Wilson, of Kansas City, connected with the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation.

Mr. Wilson outlined in general terms the meaning of the word "progress" as applied to other lines of work, and finally applied the term to fuel for motors. He graphically described early attempts to remove "carbon knock" and "spark knock" and finally related the slow, experimental process by which Ethyl fluid was discovered and perfected. He advanced the idea that modern motors, and those yet to be developed to their highest possible state of perfection would turn more and more to anti-knock preparations.

Instead of merely quoting figures and facts, Mr. Wilson operated a small specially-designed motor which transfered its power output in watts, heat output in degrees Fahrenheit, and revolutions per minute in terms of meter readings. Thus "ordinary" gasoline performance, "fuel knock" and Ethyl gasoline performance was readily witnessed by his audience of dealers, station operators and district representatives.

These sociable gatherings are held frequently during the year at various points in the district. The next will be held in Poplar Bluff.

Those present included: J. B. Dickey, Distrcit Supervisor; L. L. Wilson, representative of the Ethyl Corporation; H. B. Morris and Chas. W. Copeland and J. O. Walker of Malden, Ed Slobaugh of Broseley, P. J. Geile and Lucius and V. J. Nesslein of Perryville, H. E. Blackburn and Gene Aufdenburg of Sikeston, W. J. Pleasant and Buck Holleff of Campbell, Curtis L. Priest, H. L. Chapman of Poplar Bluff, Ed Johnson of St. Francis, Ark., R. H. Kinnard of Malden, George Hebling, J. E. Jonas of Poplar Bluff, B. F. Brooks of Caruthersville, Ben R. Caldwell, J. M. Howard and Sam Boutin of Cape Girardeau.

NEW YORK, BIRTH PLACE OF TABLOID

Who? What? When? Where?

The man in the street is often well read but seldom well informed. He feels sure, although he has never troubled to get the facts that Robert Fulton invented the steamboat and that the illustrated newspaper which furnishes the bulk of his reading and which supplies the background for the dramatic Fox picture, "Sob Sister", playing Thursday and Friday at the Malone Theatre, was the invention of Lord Northcliffe, or some other English publisher.

And again the man in the street is wrong.

The illustrated daily newspaper was first published in New York City, in 1873, by David J. Crowly. Crowly, a man of far-reaching vision, saw the profit of enlivening the news of the day with copious illustrations. He outlined his program in his opening editorial and built his paper on the same sensational lines that pattern the present day tabloids. In 1891 Frank A. Munsey brought out the Daily Star and it was not till 1903 that the first English illustrated sheet. the Daily Mirror, appeared in London.

"Sob Sister", which tells of the romance of a girl reporter for a tabloid paper and a boy who is the ace news gatherer for a staid and conservative sheet, a romance tossed on the stormy seas of busines rivaly, features James Dunn and Linda Watkins.

James Durn you will remember as the personable youth who made such a sensational debut in the Fox production, "Bad Girl". He received the praise of every critic and fan alike who saw his masterful performance.

Linda Watkins is the young Broadway star who was chosen as one of the three Fox debutante stars and makes her screen debut in this picture. The production was directed by Alfred Santell from the screen play of Edwin Burke who wrote the sparkling dialogue for "Bad Girl".

Thanksgiving

Just think of the possibilities for surprise by serving for dessert a turkey gobber made of ice cream, an ice cream roast turkey, or a pumkin. an ear of corn, a chrysanthemum, a football—with perhaps a few assorted and realistic fruits made of ice cream.

Ice cream in these forms will make the meal complete. They are such perfect imitations in form and color that they always create fresh interest and surprise—and especially for the younger folks. For additional suggestion ask for our list of ice cream moulds for special occasions.

Center bricks too are appropriate—rich vanilla ice cream, with the center design of colored sherbet. Center designs appropriate for November would be either a turkey center or a pumpkin center brick.

Economists estimate that one-fifth of the cattle and calves coming to central livestock markets are sent back to the country for further feeding.

Don't buy water instead of oysters. Each year there are some unscrupulous oyster dealers who adulterate oysters with water. If oysters are bled almost white and bleached, with soft spongy flesh of little flavor and no salty taste to the meat, and if the liquor is thin and watery, they probably have been adulterated with water.

Try this: Place an unopened can of salmon in a saucepan surrounded by boiling water, to heat for 10 or 15 minutes. While this is cooking, prepare a boiled salad dressing. When opening the can of salmon, place a cloth over most of the can, make a small hole in the top to allow the steam to escape, and cut around the entire edge so that the fish can slide out without breaking on to a hot platter. Pour the hot dressing over the salmon, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley, and serve at once. Fresh salmon may be simmered and served in the same way.

A small wasp-like insect called the clover seed chalcid has become a serious pest of alfalfa seed in the West.

Small stockyards often spread hog cholera through animals that are brought or shipped as feeders or for breeding purposes. If you buy hogs in this way, have the animals thoroughly disinfected and immunized against cholera before bringing them on the farm.

Osnaburg is a strong cotton fabric well suited to various uses for household furnishings. It has a slightly irregular, coarse weave that gives it artistic charm and may be used natural color or dyed. For draperies, slip covers, shoe bags, and couch and cushion covers it is serviceable and inexpensive. Osnaburg has long been used in the south for cotton picking bags and work clothes, but recently its value in home furnishing has been recognized.

STILLS IN POSTOFFICE, POSTMASTER IS CITED

Leonardtown, Md., November 17.—Postmaster Anton Lang of Jarboesville, near here, today was cited to appear for a hearing on charges preferred following a raid on the postoffice, which netted two stills, a quantity of rye liquor, mash and nearly 200 bottles of beer.

Prohibition agents raided the postoffice last night and arrested Michael C. Zeliahski, found in attendance on the stills, which were located in a back room. Lang was not present and the citation for his hearing was issued by the dry agents today.

The stills, one of 250 gallons and the other 150 gallons capacity, were destroyed. The agents held 235 gallons of liquor and 192 bottles of beer as evidence and destroyed 1500 gallons of mash.

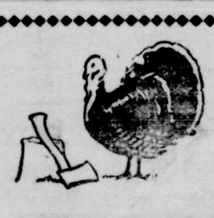

Linoleum, to give good service, should be laid over a smooth floor in such a way that it does not buckle. Clean it with a damp cloth wrung out of suds made with mild soap. Alkal. washing powders, strong soap, or too much water, will ruin even the best linoleum.

Comparatively unknown a few years ago, the cashew nut now rivals the walnut and pecan in popularity and may be bought in almost any drug or grocery store. Last year this country consumed more than 5,000,000 pounds of cashews. The cashew 'nut' is not really a nut, says T. Ralph Robinson, of the United States Department of Agriculture, but the seed of a fleshy fruit borne in clusters on a large evergreen tropical tree. Curiously, the seed is attached to the outside, at the lower end of the fruit. The cashew tree thrives in Porto Rico and other West Indian islands, and a few trees have fruited in Forida.

Vital Foods

IN these days when we are evaluating vitamins so ardently, it is valuable to know about inexpensive ways in which to obtain our full vitamin quota. Tomatoes have become famous for their vitamin content, and tomato juice is now fed to babies by the doctor's orders. Here are some delicious and inexpensive tomato dishes each of which will serve four people:

Macaroni and Tomato: Boil one-half package macaroni until tender, then drain. Simmer for ten minutes the contents of a No. 2 can of tomatoes with one-half bay leaf, two slices onion, one teaspoon sugar, and salt and pepper to taste; remove bay leaf and add to the macaroni. Costs about 15 cents.

Clam and Tomato Broth: Combine half the contents of a No. 2 can of clam broth with one 10 ounce can of tomato juice, and season to taste with salt and pepper, celery salt, tobasco sauce and one teaspoon lemon juice. Heat to boiling. Costs abcut 25 cents.

Stewed Tomatoes and Celery: Combine the contents of a No. 2 can of tomatoes with one-half cup diced, cooked celery, salt, pepper, one tablespoon butter and one teaspoon sugar. Simmer gently for a few minutes. Costs about 17 cents.

Baked Tomatoes and Peppers: Shred one green pepper and place with the contents of a No. 2 can of tomatoes and one teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper in a buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven until peppers are tender. Add one tablespoon of butter and serve. Costs about twenty cents.

Malone Trial December 8th

Judge Will H. D. Green of West Plains will preside at the re-trial of John R. Malone, set for hearing in the Circuit Court, Charleston, December 8. A twenty-year sentence was set aside by the Missouri Supreme Court on techanicalities, and the case sent back for retrial.

Mo. Pac. Division Freight Agent Promises Co-operation In Phone Talk With Pepper Wednesday Night

A possibility that the Missouri Pacific Sikeston Muny Plant controversy over switching privileges here could be adjusted amicably, and soon, was predicted by Dan G. Pepper Thursday morning, following a 45-minute telephone conversation Wednesday night with W. B. Wier, division freight agent of Little Rock, Ark.

The controversy is explained in detail on the front page, section one, this issue. The Municipal Plant needs and desires switching priveleges at the building in order to facilitate spotting cars and freight shipments over other lines.

According to Mr. Pepper, Mr. Weir expressed the opinion that the matter could be adjusted to the entire satisfaction of both parties, and that both would receive due consideration of claims. All correspondence formerly in the hands of Mr. Chapman, is now held by Mr. Weir.

DERRIS TO INSTALL NEW FIXTURES, AND FOUNTAIN THIS WEEK

Bringing an already modern store up to the minute with latest fixtures and a strictly modern fountain and luncheonette will get underway in earnest this week-end at Derris' Drug Store. Preliminary operations have been carried on for the past five weeks getting ready to receive wall cases and the new fountain, and work of actually installing the new equipment will begin Friday or Saturday.

Wall and floor cases will be glass from the floor up with walnut trim, and will be located along the east side of the building.

The fountain, finished in black tile with green ornamental tile trim, will be located in the east front section of the building. It will be strictly up-to-the-minute, in that it will contain a luncheonette compartment equipped with a cold storage section for keeping salads, sandwich fillings, etc., in first class condition. An auxiliary, glass-enclosed room has been built in the back part of the store building, where Mrs. Derris will hold forth over the preparation of luncheonette specials. Octagonal individual chairs are provided for the convenience of fountain patrons. Tables and chairs will be used instead of booths.

Fountain service will include a constant supply of that famous Golden Drip coffee, vouched for by J. Ernest Harper, and prepared by the new Edison process of percolation and filtration. Grade A milk from the dairy of John J. Reiss will be served in individual bottles, and will be used in the preparation of fountain drinks.

Included in the shipment of fixtures is a modern, all-electric refrigerated candy display case in which Busy Bee and Page-Shaw lines of fine confections will be kept.

Convenience of patrons has been kept constantly in mind in making plans for the proposed changes. A cozy corner will be provided for the ladies. It will contain a writing desk, a mirror, and a private telephone. The mirror will be especially appreciated, Mr. Derris believes.

Reed Brothers, local experts on interior decoration, will have charge of that phase of the work. The ceiling will be done in ivory, and walls in tan.

W. E. Derris established his business in Sikeston in 1910, locating first in the McCoy building on Malone Avenue. He moved to the McCoy-Tanner Building and in 1924 constructed the Derris Building on Front Street, where he is now located.

Included in the shipment of fixtures coming from Columbus, Ga., are wall cases and other fixtures for Galloway's Drug Store, which also has the modernizing spirit. Derris' fountain has been stored in Cairo for the past week, but will not be brought to Sikeston until installation of wall cases and other fixtures has been made.

RESIDENT OF ELLISVILLE COMMUNITY DIES TUESDAY

Mrs. Henrietta Hall, wife of Silas Hall, born April 11, 1867, died Tuesday, November 17 at the family residence two and one-half miles west of Ellisville Store, 13 miles south of Sikeston. Her husband, two brothers and a sister survive.

Services were conducted at the residence Wednesday afternoon, November 18, with Rev. Finis Jones officiating. Interment in Sikeston City Cemetery, Welsh in charge.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST LOCAL NEGRO A MISTAKE

Henry Jones, janitor on one floor of the local Shoe Factory, was released Tuesday evening, having been held in the local City jail for Mississippi authorities since Sunday night for questioning on a murder charge. One glance by a deputy sheriff from the southern State convinced the officer that Jones was not the man wanted.

Jones' friends rallied to his assistance Monday and Tuesday, made up a fund with which to retain first class legal counsel, and brought food and drink. Jones followed his instructions not to talk literally, and would not answer questions until the Mississippi deputy first interviewed his legal representative.

Jones has lived in Sikeston about seven years. He has worked continuously and is known among his white and colored friends as beeing a "good niggah'. He passed through Mississippi about six or seven years ago on his way here, "but didnt stop to kill nobody", he states.

RAIN AND COOLER SAYS WEATHER MAN

Rain and cooler weather was predicted for Sikeston and vicinity Thursday by the weather man.

Exceptionally fine weather has been on the program this November, carrying on the good work started last October claimed to have been the mildest month by that name since 1900.

Summer temperatures prevailed here last week-end and this week with the mrcury climbing to 79 on three days, last Friday, Saturday and Monday.

The chart up to Thursday:

Nov.	Hi	Low	Rain

Next Thursday—Thanksgiving—November 26

Celebration of Thanksgiving Day in America can be traced back to the earliest days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. From there the custom spread to all parts of the United States.

Few Americans know that the original Presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation was lost for over a hundred years; that it was found at an auction sale in 1921; that it was bought by the Library of Congress for $300; and that it now reposes in the archives of that institution—one of the most valuable documents in the world. The Division of Information and Publication of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, in a statement issued today, relates the story of the lost proclamation.

On September 25, 1789, Elias Boudinot introduced the following resolution in the House of Representatives:

"Resolved, That a joint committee of both Houses be directed to wait upon the President of the United States, request that he would recommend to the people of the United States a day of public Thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging, with grateful hearts, the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity to establish a Constitution of government for their safety and happiness".

Harmless as this resolution seems, there were objections to it. In reading the Annals of Congress of that period, we find that Representative Aedanus Burke of South Carolina thought we should not mimic Europe "where they made a mere mockery of thanksgiving".

The original Proclamation of Thanksgiving, and, indeed, the first Presidential proclamation ever issued in the United States, reads as follows:

"By the President of the United States of America.

"Whereas it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providences of Almighty God, to obey his will, to be grateful for his benefits, and humbly to implore his protection and favor—and Whereas both Houses—Congress have by their joint committee requested me to recommend to the people of the Unitd States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness.

"Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that grat and glorious Being who is the beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be—That we may then all unite in rendering until him our sincere and humble thanks—for his kind care and protection of the People of this country previous to their becoming a Nation—for the signal and manifold mercies and the favorable interpositions of His providence, which we experienced in the course and conclusion of the later war—for the great degree of tranquility, union, and plenty, which we have since enjoyed—for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the national One now lately instituted—for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and in general for all the great and various favors which He hath been pleased to confer upon us.

"And also that we may then unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the great Lord and Ruler of Nations, and beseech Him to pardon our national and other trangressions—to enable us all whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually—to render our national government a blessing to all the people by constantly being a Government of wise, just, and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed—to protect and guide all Sovereigns and Nations (especially such as have shown kindness to us) and to bless them with good Government, peace and concord. To promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science among them and us—and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best.

"Given under my hand at the City of New York the third day of October in the year of our Lord 1789.

(Signed) George Washington".

TO HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR NEGRO WOMAN FRIDAY

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon, 2 o'clock for Mary Shannon, colored, who died of tuberculosis Thursday morning at the home of her grandfather, Arnold Hunt, living one mile south of Sikeston on the R. E. Limbaugh place.

One of two children, twins, nine months old, died two weeks ago.

Services will be held in the Sunset Cemetery with Rev. Adams officiating. Welsh will conduct the funeral.

After attending a dog-fight on Musket Ridge Saturday, Cricket Hicks stated that everybody should have some excitement at least once a week to keep them out of the ruts.—Commercial Appeal.

The Auxiliary held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., with a good attendance.

The dance committee reported a small sum realized from their recent dance. A very enjoyable evening was passed by those present and the Auxiliary is planning another around St. Valentin's Day.

Plans were made at this meeting for a benefit bridge and pinochle party to be held in the Marshall Hotel on the evening of Friday, December 4. The Auxiliary will give the hand embroidered sheet and pillow cases the night of the party.

An all-day meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., Tuesday, November 24, when the members will tack comforts and a full attendance is desired.

DRAMA CONTEST TO FIND THE MISSING NOVELIST?

From the Editorial page, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Nov. 19.

In a time when athletic contests are about the only kind in which high school students seem interested, it should be encouraging to the followers of the arts to know of the Southeast Missouri folk drama tournament to be held this winter by the Cape Girardeau State Teachers' College. The aim of the sponsors in the laudable one of impressing on high school students the possibilities afforded by local history and lore for dramatic settings and themes. The tendency is to forget that every section has its color and romance and needs only sympathetic interpreters such as Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Cooper and Hawthorne, O. Henry, Joel Chandler Harris, Charles Egbert Craddock and Alfred Henry Lewis to bring them out. "Old Creole Days", "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Arizona Nights" all came from localities which suggested no more to most of their residents than do Ste. Genevieve, New Madrid and Shannon Counties. The high school playwriting and presentation contest deserves every encouragement. Who knows but that an important American dramatist may come from Southeast Missouri thereby?

Fayette, Mo., November 17.—With but two games left on the 1931 Central College football schedule, Coach C. A. Clingenpeel has announced the promotion of two freshmen, Douglas L. Bourner, 6723 Schofield street, St. Louis, and Sterling Turner, Charleston, to the Eagle first squad. Bourner is a full back and Turner a half back or end.

Both men are expected to see action in one of the two remaining games on the Eagle schedule, either against Westminster here Friday or against Missouri Valley at Marshall Thanksgiving.

Promotions were made to compensate for the possible loss of "Smokey" Sutton, regular full back, and Ralph Dorman, varsity half back, both of whom may be out of the remaining games of the season on account of leg injuries. Added possibility of the two freshmen seeing service resulted from last Friday's game with William Jewell, in which two of the outstanding regulars, Bill Patterson, end, and Bart Randolph, freshman quarter back, both of St. Louis, were removed from the game with injuries.

Patterson and Bourner have played on the Normany High School team, while Randolph starred at Ritenour.

Growing Old, and Christmas

by Noni Clack Bailey

MARTHA WHITESIDE had come from a family proud of its Pilgrim ancestry. The women had always been good-natured, well read, but prim.

Because of Dolly, Martha, who was widowed early, had drifted into journalism. Dolly grew up, married Fred Howard and moved away. Martha loved her, missed her; but was too busy to consider changed conditions or passing time.

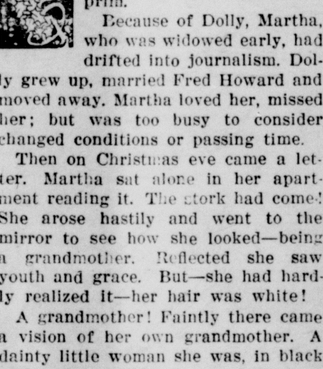

Then on Christmas eve came a letter. Martha sat alone in her apartment reading it. The stork had come! She arose hastily and went to the mirror to see how she looked—being a grandmother. Reflected she saw youth and grace. But—she had hardly realized it—her hair was white!

A grandmother! Faintly there came a vision of her own grandmother. A dainty little woman she was, in black with a snow-white apron tied about her slender waist. Around her shoulders was a soft mull fichu. A little lace cap adorned her silver curls. It was a bit old-fashioned, she knew. Most other women, Martha remembered, had quit wearing caps and fichus; but somehow they seemed just right for the quaint little grandmother who seemed always giving one cookies.

Martha laughed, a rather startled laugh; for she suddenly realized—"Why, I'm as old as she was then!" A puzzled look came into her eyes. The puritan Martha was saying: "It's time to give up your work, don somber clothes and learn to bake cookies." The newspaper woman was answering: "Martha Whiteside, you'll do nothing of the sort. You'll go to the beauty parlor tomorrow morning and get a facial and have your hair bobbed!" The vision looked a little shocked, laughed and disappeared.

Decision and action were one with Martha. The hair was cut in the latest lines. The curls nestled into form like they were happy over her decision. It suited her active bearing, her youthful face and smart ensemble.

In the editorial room the sports editor was passing her desk as she removed her hat. "Hello, Bob-White," he cheerily greeted her, and the sobriquet stuck tight. That's where she got the pen-name for those clever articles she writes. Those who are near her among business associates, friends or family fondly call her "Bob-White."

It is Christmas, five years since Martha made her decision as to the kind of grandmother she was going to be. Dolly and Fred with their Bobby and Jimmy are spending the day in Martha's apartment. A maid is converting a library table into a very proper one for dining, arranging a marvelous Christmas dinner, just sent up from the caterer's.

The group is gathered about a tinseled tree in the bow window. There are remarkable toys—too many perhaps. Martha, fresh and pretty as ever, is sitting on the floor teaching Bobby how to bark at the miniature kennel and see the radio dog jump out at the sound of his voice. On the soft blanket before the fire Jimmy is gleefully chewing the toe off a rubber clown.

Suddenly Martha looks up at the panel mirror and sees the picture. Again comes the dim vision of her grandmother, smiling happily. Martha laughs back at the vision, then solemnly relates the story. Vividly she paints the word picture of the prim little grandmother and of her puzzled decision. "Was I right?" she asks.

Bobby kicks over his "structo" castle as he throws his arms about her and cries, "My Bob-White's tind o' dramma I want."

Dolly, half tearfully, replies: "It was a pretty picture, mother, but it needs an antique frame; doesn't fit into this apartment at all. Who could want you different? You're glorious!"

The maid announced dinner and Fred, raising a glass of sweet, sparkling cider, suggested a toast "to the most charming of charming grandmothers in memory, poem or song—to the one who laughs off her sorrows—shoulders her share of life and never has time to grow old. Long live your type, my dear, the adorable kind of grandma we can lovingly call 'Bob-White.'"

44 ATTEND SCOUT MEETING IN C'STON LAST MONDAY NIGHT

Forty-four Scouters from eight towns in Southeast Missouri met at the Methodist church in Charleston Monday night to attend the meeting of the Southeast Missouri Area Council Boy Scouts of America. This is the largest number of towns that has been as yet represented in a Scout meeting. The Scout Council met with the Kiwanis Club for dinner. Following this Fred G. Davie of Lincoln, Nebraska, Regional Scout Executive, gave an interesting discussion of the needs of modern civilization for such a program as that provided by the Boy Scouts. Lanier Bird, President of the Kiwanis Club of Charleston, presided at the meeting. After Mr. Davie's address, he turned the meeting over to Rush Limbaugh of Cape Girardeau, Area Council President. G. W. Kirk led in the singing of a number of songs.

Mr. Limbaugh called for reports from the eight towns represented on the Scout work being done in the various communities. All reports were optimistic, both in regard to the type of Scouting done and as to the financial participation of our communities in the Scout program. This was followed by the reports from the delegates who attended the Regional meeting at Kansas City recently. R. M. Moore of Cape Girardeau discussed the Sea Scouting Program for older boys and recommended its adoption by the Troops of the Council. A. F. Deneke, Cape Girardeau District Chairman, and Hugh J. Morrison of Poplar Bluff, gave their impressions of the meeting and stated that it had given them a realization of the importance of Scouting, the magnitude of the work and the type of men who are carrying it on in the various communities of Region 8. This Region is made up of Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri.

C. G. Morrison, Scout Executive, dsicussed the Clubbing Program, which is the program for boys from 9 to 12 years of age. Following his explanation of the program and the way it is used and adopted, several men from the Council including Clarence Heuschober and Will Kiehne of Cape Girardeau; W. Zimmerman and J. L. Glassey of East Prairie, Eric Palmer of Bloomfield, spoke favorably of the program and the need of it in their communities. George Kirk of Charleston moved that the Southeast Missouri Council petition the Regional Office for authority to carry on the Cubbing Program. This motion was seconded by Allen Oliver of Cape Girardeau. C. C. Oliver of Bloomfield stated that he was 100 per cent for the program provided the smaller communities were not discriminated against. The motion carried unanimously and Mr. Davie at once granted the authority to carry on the work.

A. Q. Carter, Area Treasurer, gave the Treasures' report. Mr. Limbaugh presented the information that the Councils of the country are authorized to select their most promising Scouters for nomination for the Beaver Award which is presented by the Nationa Council to men who have rendered distinguished service to boyhood in their respective communities. The Southeast Missouri Area Council is eligible to have two nominations this year and one each year hereafter. A committee will be eappointed by Mr. Limbaugh to make the nominations.

The following men were present at the meeting: Blodget—Dr. E. J. Neinstedt, Marvin McLane; Bloomfield—Charles Oliver, E. C. O'Neal, Eric Palmer; Cape Girardeau—R. H. Moore, Wesley Tuschoff, Rush Limbaugh, Louis Eckelman, O. D. Dye, Clarence Heischober, A. F. Deneke, Robert Harrison, Rev. Reinhart Lehmann, Ed Haman, Albert oKeppel, L. A. Hoffman, A. Q. Carter, Allen Oliver, L. H. Strunk, M. L. Roth, H. F. Leuer, Will Kiehne, C. G. Morrison; Charleston—Henry Brasher, C. L. Joslyn, E. E. Oliver, A. D. Simpson, Ben Stricker, Thos. G. Arthur, Geo. Kirk, Lee Pemberton, James Haw; East Prairie—W. E. Zimmerman, J. L. Glassey; Morehouse—Jesse M. Layton, D. L. Fisher; Plopar Bluff—Fay D. Bacon, Hugh J. Morrison, W. R. Kendall, C. C. Chapman; Sikeston—W. E. Hollingsworth, Jos. Sarsar, C. H. Denman, Harry C. Young, and Fred G. Davie of Lincoln, Neb.

44 ATTEND SCOUT MEETING IN C'STON LAST MONDAY NIGHT

Forty-four Scouters from eight towns in Southeast Missouri met at the Methodist church in Charleston Monday night to attend the meeting of the Southeast Missouri Area Council Boy Scouts of America. This is the largest number of towns that has been as yet represented in a Scout meeting. The Scout Council met with the Kiwanis Club for dinner. Following this Fred G. Davie of Lincoln, Nebraska, Regional Scout Executive, gave an interesting discussion of the needs of modern civilization for such a program as that provided by the Boy Scouts. Lanier Bird, President of the Kiwanis Club of Charleston, presided at the meeting. After Mr. Davie's address, he turned the meeting over to Rush Limbaugh of Cape Girardeau, Area Council President. G. W. Kirk led in the singing of a number of songs.

Mr. Limbaugh called for reports from the eight towns represented on the Scout work being done in the various communities. All reports were optimistic, both in regard to the type of Scouting done and as to the financial participation of our communities in the Scout program. This was followed by the reports from the delegates who attended the Regional meeting at Kansas City recently. R. M. Moore of Cape Girardeau discussed the Sea Scouting Program for older boys and recommended its adoption by the Troops of the Council. A. F. Deneke, Cape Girardeau District Chairman, and Hugh J. Morrison of Poplar Bluff, gave their impressions of the meeting and stated that it had given them a realization of the importance of Scouting, the magnitude of the work and the type of men who are carrying it on in the various communities of Region 8. This Region is made up of Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri.

C. G. Morrison, Scout Executive, dsicussed the Clubbing Program, which is the program for boys from 9 to 12 years of age. Following his explanation of the program and the way it is used and adopted, several men from the Council including Clarence Heuschober and Will Kiehne of Cape Girardeau; W. Zimmerman and J. L. Glassey of East Prairie, Eric Palmer of Bloomfield, spoke favorably of the program and the need of it in their communities. George Kirk of Charleston moved that the Southeast Missouri Council petition the Regional Office for authority to carry on the Cubbing Program. This motion was seconded by Allen Oliver of Cape Girardeau. C. C. Oliver of Bloomfield stated that he was 100 per cent for the program provided the smaller communities were not discriminated against. The motion carried unanimously and Mr. Davie at once granted the authority to carry on the work.

A. Q. Carter, Area Treasurer, gave the Treasures' report. Mr. Limbaugh presented the information that the Councils of the country are authorized to select their most promising Scouters for nomination for the Beaver Award which is presented by the Nationa Council to men who have rendered distinguished service to boyhood in their respective communities. The Southeast Missouri Area Council is eligible to have two nominations this year and one each year hereafter. A committee will be eappointed by Mr. Limbaugh to make the nominations.

The following men were present at the meeting: Blodget—Dr. E. J. Neinstedt, Marvin McLane; Bloomfield—Charles Oliver, E. C. O'Neal, Eric Palmer; Cape Girardeau—R. H. Moore, Wesley Tuschoff, Rush Limbaugh, Louis Eckelman, O. D. Dye, Clarence Heischober, A. F. Deneke, Robert Harrison, Rev. Reinhart Lehmann, Ed Haman, Albert oKeppel, L. A. Hoffman, A. Q. Carter, Allen Oliver, L. H. Strunk, M. L. Roth, H. F. Leuer, Will Kiehne, C. G. Morrison; Charleston—Henry Brasher, C. L. Joslyn, E. E. Oliver, A. D. Simpson, Ben Stricker, Thos. G. Arthur, Geo. Kirk, Lee Pemberton, James Haw; East Prairie—W. E. Zimmerman, J. L. Glassey; Morehouse—Jesse M. Layton, D. L. Fisher; Plopar Bluff—Fay D. Bacon, Hugh J. Morrison, W. R. Kendall, C. C. Chapman; Sikeston—W. E. Hollingsworth, Jos. Sarsar, C. H. Denman, Harry C. Young, and Fred G. Davie of Lincoln, Neb.

AS I SEE IT

By I'm About Town

We are always grateful for news tips, and especially so to Bill Sensenbaugh, who confirms the rumor that Abraham Lincoln was shot. The story has been going the rounds in these here parts for some time, and, it is claimed, was even printed in some history book or something which the Coon Hollow teacher loaned Bill last winter.

Charleston claims to have eleven reasons why Sikeston will not extract all of the tail feathers from the Bluejays this year.

But the Bulldogs come right back with a curt note stating that Coaches Bill Miller and Tharon Stallings have been applying the file this past week, sharpening the Bulldogs' teeth and claws.

Dago Albright is more or less bunged up. Was for that matter before the Cairo game last Saturday afternoon, and that game, by the way, was no tea party. As a consequence Dago is still limping more or less, but anxious to do his stuff.

Local football fans are pretty well convinced that the last-second play in the football picture 'Touchdown' is a boner of the first order. The boys had the ball behind their own goal line, first down, and about ten seconds to go. With a weak punter in the backfield, the quarterback should have called for a line play at center or off tackles—anything except a punt.

However, it had to end as it did to make the story end correctly.

All we hope for personally is one game of real football here, against Charleston. Sikeston has the material, real, honest-to-goodness ability, a fine coach, and a loyal student body. With that combination and a determination to get in there and put, put, we'll have Bluejay feathers for souvenirs.

Fifty cents per plate for a real turkey dinner is something new in Sikeston, but that is what the Ladies' Aid of the Christian Church is promising for Thanksgiving Day. They will begin serving at 11:30 in order that all can be ready for the football game between Sikeston and Charleston on the local field.

MASTER CLOCK TO BE INSTALLED SOON IN MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT

According to Dan G. Pepper, Superintendent of the Municipal Light and Power Plant, a master clock has been ordered and acknowledged. It is probably in transit and will be installed before the end of the month. The master clock regulates frequency, and permits automatic control of all electric clocks connected with the municipal distribution system.

The only cost of this additional service from Sikeston's plant will be a charge for electricity actually consumed in operating clocks. It is estimated that clocks for homes and business houses can be purchased from $5.00 up, and cost of operation will be from 10 to 25 cents per month.

POSTPONE LETTING OF CHARLESTON SCHOOL PROJECT

According to Harold E. Sutterfield, junior member of the Sutterfield Construction Company, all bids on the Charleston school building project were rejected Wednesday night, when the lowest figure submitted was found to be approximately $10,000 over available funds. Plans call for building a negro school building in that city, for approximately $21,000.

The contract for building a negro and grade school building in Hayti was let to an Illinois contracting company according to Mr. Sutterfield. In the latter instance, bonds were voted to construct the negro institution, but shortly after the bond issue was approved the white grade school building burned, necessitating change in plans.

Coffee and Sugar Helped Aviatrix Smash Coast-to-Coast Air Record

Miss Ruth Nichols standing in the cockpit of the Crosley Lockheed-Vega in which she flew from Los Angeles to New York in 13 hours and 22 minutes, breaking the women's transcontinental record and lowering the Lindberghs' flying time by an hour.

MISS RUTH NICHOLS, noted aviatrix, turned to the results of the latest laboratory research by food scientists, when she selected the rations she took with her on her recent record-breaking flight of 13 hours and 22 minutes from west to east, across the continent.

On the second lap, between Wichita, Kansas, and New York, her chief nourishment was supplied by a thermos bottle of coffee, with sugar and cream. Coffee, she says, was selected because it helps to keep the mind clear and functioning on all cylinders. The sugar it contained is now recognized as one of the best sources of the physical energy demanded for feats of endurance. The only other nourishment she took during this exacting exploit was supplied by half of a chicken sandwich.

"I needed the quick mental reactions and energy supplied by the combination of coffee and sugar," says Miss Nichols, "in flying through more kinds of weather than seemed possible on this second half of the trip. There was snow, ice, fog, head winds, tail winds, cross winds and all kinds mixed.

"At times I had to rise to an altitude of nearly four miles, and the intense cold and the fatigue caused by managing the plane for so many hours required considerable endurance. I was certainly grateful for the coffee and sugar then."

POSTPONE LETTING OF CHARLESTON SCHOOL PROJECT

According to Harold E. Sutterfield, junior member of the Sutterfield Construction Company, all bids on the Charleston school building project were rejected Wednesday night, when the lowest figure submitted was found to be approximately $10,000 over available funds. Plans call for building a negro school building in that city, for approximately $21,000.

The contract for building a negro and grade school building in Hayti was let to an Illinois contracting company according to Mr. Sutterfield. In the latter instance, bonds were voted to construct the negro institution, but shortly after the bond issue was approved the white grade school building burned, necessitating change in plans.

Coffee and Sugar Helped Aviatrix Smash Coast-to-Coast Air Record

Miss Ruth Nichols standing in the cockpit of the Crosley Lockheed-Vega in which she flew from Los Angeles to New York in 13 hours and 22 minutes, breaking the women's transcontinental record and lowering the Lindberghs' flying time by an hour.

MISS RUTH NICHOLS, noted aviatrix, turned to the results of the latest laboratory research by food scientists, when she selected the rations she took with her on her recent record-breaking flight of 13 hours and 22 minutes from west to east, across the continent.

On the second lap, between Wichita, Kansas, and New York, her chief nourishment was supplied by a thermos bottle of coffee, with sugar and cream. Coffee, she says, was selected because it helps to keep the mind clear and functioning on all cylinders. The sugar it contained is now recognized as one of the best sources of the physical energy demanded for feats of endurance. The only other nourishment she took during this exacting exploit was supplied by half of a chicken sandwich.

"I needed the quick mental reactions and energy supplied by the combination of coffee and sugar," says Miss Nichols, "in flying through more kinds of weather than seemed possible on this second half of the trip. There was snow, ice, fog, head winds, tail winds, cross winds and all kinds mixed.

"At times I had to rise to an altitude of nearly four miles, and the intense cold and the fatigue caused by managing the plane for so many hours required considerable endurance. I was certainly grateful for the coffee and sugar then."

BLAMES G. O. P FOR DEPRESSION

Des Moines, Ia., November 18.—Taking its cue from John A. Simpson, president, the National Farmers Union turned to the serious business of drafting a legislative policy today.

Simpson blamed the present administration for present economic conditions, in an addres at the opening session.

Attacking President Hoover, Simpson referred to him as "the great stationary engineer in the White House" who permits the farmers to "produce bread and butter at prices are below cost and when we have six to seven million men unemployed".

A resolutions committee was at work today and expected to have its report ready by evening, C. C. Hyde of Oklahom, its chairman, said.

The national union has a membership of 92,990, Harry C. Parmenter of Nebraska, member of the credentials committee, reported. Oklahoma leads with 20,5111 members and Nebraska is second with 19,080.

LOCAL WHOLESALER REPORTS INCREASE OVER 1930

McKnight-Keaton Grocery Company, Sikeston, is one of 475 Purina feed dealers in the United States who have the laugh on depression. These dealers, according to an announcement this week by Purina Mills, have shown a gain in their business over the peak business year of 1929-30.

In this announcement of increased business, there is an optimistic note regarding the trend of times on the farms. All of these dealers based their sales on lowered production costs, urging farmers to keep records on all the feed fed, the cost of the feed, and the financial return. Milk scales were offered to dairy farmers with purchases of dairy feed and they were urged to keep records on their cows. All feeders, no matter what class of livestock they fed, were urged to see how much they were making from their feeding operations.

It is easy to note a trend toward better times on the farm when 475 feed dealers in scattered parts of the United States can show increased sales during a depression year such as most consider this to be. Practically without exception, every one of the 475 dealers state there is a growing optimistic trend in their local communities which will help stimulate business even more.

THE MACHINE AGE APPLIED TO CRIME

Methods Employed by Criminals Demand New Police Methods, Bankers Association Official Declares.

USE by criminals of modern technological developments such as automobiles, machine guns and airplanes have given them advantages which old-fashioned local and disconnected police systems are powerless to combat and the situation demands the broader modern protection of State police systems, James E. Baum, deputy manager American Bankers Association in charge of its crime investigating department, declares in the protective section of the American Bankers Association Journal.

"The Association's Protective Committee has repeatedly urged the advantages of extending state police systems beyond the nine eastern States which have enjoyed this protection for many years," Mr. Baum says. "The time has passed when we can safely rely upon the disconnected and oftentimes ineffective methods of local and county police. The advent of automobiles and better roads, to say nothing of machine guns and airplanes, demands the same wide latitude in authority and field of operation be given the police no less than the criminal."

Statewide Police Plans Best

He quotes a Kansas judge as saying that "our system of sheriffs and constables was not designed to meet present-day conditions. As a system of law enforcement, it is as out of date as old common-law pleading, both evolved about the same time. The semi-military, highly trained State police officer owing allegiance only to State laws, is the most effective agency for order yet brought forth."

"Every year the robbery experience of banks in the nine States having State police proves the merits and urgent need of State-wide police protection," says Mr. Baum. "Last year, for example, there were 38 bank holdups in Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia where State police forces are operated," he continues. "Although this total is exceptionally high due to an unprecedented number of robberies in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, it is little more than half the number of daylight bank robberies suffered in 1930 in Illinois alone. Furthermore, this total of 38 robberies in the nine eastern States was exceeded in California, where there were 42 bank holdups, and in Ohio where banks suffered 40 similar attacks.

Holdups Fewer Under New Plan

"If we extend the comparison of the robbery experience in these States enjoying State-wide police protection to the record in eight central and far western States, we find a total of 304 bank holdups in the latter group. The odds, therefore, continue to be not less than 8 to 1 against the banks in these western States, where they are denied the speedy, coordinated action of State police and their modern means of transportation and communication. The same comparison holds true of the farmers' losses through robberies of livestock, poultry, produce, etc.

"Moreover, these State police forces invariably yield an operating profit in the amount of fines collected and the value of stolen property recovered. Bankers interested in cutting down the cost of robbery insurance might well consider this job of extending State police systems as a timely, co-operative service to be undertaken alongside the farmers."

BANK EMPLOYEES SENT TO SCHOOL

Modern Scientific Financial and Management Methods Taught Throughout Country.

THE American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association conducts 223 chapters, or local banking schools in as many cities throughout the country. One large city chapter has almost 6,000 students, who are combining formal theoretical and practical banking studies with their daily working experience and other places have these schools with a thousand to two thousand students. In addition there are fifty study groups in small communities with some 6,000 enrollments. All told over 42,000 bank people are taking these courses—not only clerks, but junior officers and even senior officers in some of the more advanced work.

The work of the institute has been declared to be "a dynamic economic force, pouring into banking a broadening, deepening stream of better qualified bankers than could be developed merely by the daily workings of banking itself," and it has been suggested that every bank worker should be compelled to combine institute courses with his work. A good many banks now make it a part of the contract of employment that an employee shall undertake to render himself proficient and trustworthy in banking by taking institute work and others make successful progress in this educational aspect of banking a pre-requisite to promotion. Plans are being developed to make the benefits of banking education through this organization more generally available in the rural districts.

Hazel Manley of Union City, Tenn., Awarded 133rd Auto In Nationwide Slogan Contest

MISS Hazel Manley, of 417 Home St., Union City, Tenn., is the 133rd to win an automobile in a nationwide slogan contest. She is the seventh winner in Tennessee.

Miss Manley acquired her new car by writing twenty words descriptive of the quality and merits of the Certified Cremo Cigar, each word on the back of a Cremo cigar band. Every day, except Sundays, until further notice, the American Cigar Company awards a closed car to the author of the best statement.

The prowess in slogan-making of those who have submitted their writings in the competition, is pointed to by advertising men as a proof that modern advertising by means of newspapers, magazines and radio has made the nation "advertising conscious", so that even amateurs can write a good, brief, snappy slogan for a product.

The efforts of the contestants in this competition are rewarded with the choice of a Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth automobile, worth, at current prices, about $40 for each of the twenty words.

Doctors, dentists, housewives, business men, clerks, airplane mechanics, ministers, teachers newspaper people and farmers have been among the winners of the contest. Salesmen were represented by the largest group of winners. Artisans in various trades came next. Laborers and janitors and telegraph operators, too, have acquired automobiles by the Twenty Word route.

Holdups Fewer Under New Plan

"If we extend the comparison of the robbery experience in these States enjoying State-wide police protection to the record in eight central and far western States, we find a total of 304 bank holdups in the latter group. The odds, therefore, continue to be not less than 8 to 1 against the banks in these western States, where they are denied the speedy, coordinated action of State police and their modern means of transportation and communication. The same comparison holds true of the farmers' losses through robberies of livestock, poultry, produce, etc.

"Moreover, these State police forces invariably yield an operating profit in the amount of fines collected and the value of stolen property recovered. Bankers interested in cutting down the cost of robbery insurance might well consider this job of extending State police systems as a timely, co-operative service to be undertaken alongside the farmers."

BANK EMPLOYEES SENT TO SCHOOL

Modern Scientific Financial and Management Methods Taught Throughout Country.

THE American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association conducts 223 chapters, or local banking schools in as many cities throughout the country. One large city chapter has almost 6,000 students, who are combining formal theoretical and practical banking studies with their daily working experience and other places have these schools with a thousand to two thousand students. In addition there are fifty study groups in small communities with some 6,000 enrollments. All told over 42,000 bank people are taking these courses—not only clerks, but junior officers and even senior officers in some of the more advanced work.

The work of the institute has been declared to be "a dynamic economic force, pouring into banking a broadening, deepening stream of better qualified bankers than could be developed merely by the daily workings of banking itself," and it has been suggested that every bank worker should be compelled to combine institute courses with his work. A good many banks now make it a part of the contract of employment that an employee shall undertake to render himself proficient and trustworthy in banking by taking institute work and others make successful progress in this educational aspect of banking a pre-requisite to promotion. Plans are being developed to make the benefits of banking education through this organization more generally available in the rural districts.

Hazel Manley of Union City, Tenn., Awarded 133rd Auto In Nationwide Slogan Contest

MISS Hazel Manley, of 417 Home St., Union City, Tenn., is the 133rd to win an automobile in a nationwide slogan contest. She is the seventh winner in Tennessee.

Miss Manley acquired her new car by writing twenty words descriptive of the quality and merits of the Certified Cremo Cigar, each word on the back of a Cremo cigar band. Every day, except Sundays, until further notice, the American Cigar Company awards a closed car to the author of the best statement.

The prowess in slogan-making of those who have submitted their writings in the competition, is pointed to by advertising men as a proof that modern advertising by means of newspapers, magazines and radio has made the nation "advertising conscious", so that even amateurs can write a good, brief, snappy slogan for a product.

The efforts of the contestants in this competition are rewarded with the choice of a Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth automobile, worth, at current prices, about $40 for each of the twenty words.

Doctors, dentists, housewives, business men, clerks, airplane mechanics, ministers, teachers newspaper people and farmers have been among the winners of the contest. Salesmen were represented by the largest group of winners. Artisans in various trades came next. Laborers and janitors and telegraph operators, too, have acquired automobiles by the Twenty Word route.

Home Furnishings—Our 34th Year in S. E. Mo.

Mothers with new babies will be interested in the pretty baby baskets received this week. They are arranged with a stand that is on rubber tire wheels. After taking the little dear for a ride in your car, the basket may be placed on this stand after which it becomes a bassinet, easily moved from one room to another. We show them for the first time in Sikeston.

There are so many new items to mention this week we hardly know where to begin. Lane cedar chests are prettier this time than ever, with prices away down to the bottom. You should see the new numbers.

Four new rolls 12 ft. linoleum are now on the rack—all lacquered up ready for laying at new low prices. By the way, you will find floor coverings of all kinds priced on a level with corn and cotton prices.

Other new arrivals worthy of mention include vanity benches at $1.95; shadow lamps, $1.50; magazine racks, $1.00 and up, wall plaques, $1.50.

Silk bed sets with French doll in center, natural hair, real eye lashes and all that. Adds attractiveness to any bedroom.

In used goods worth while, we offer two excellent heating stoves, one Charter Oak, one Enterprise. So far as service goes, they are like new. Low prices are available with plenty of time to pay.

Wehave heard of a girl—or maybe it was a boy—who was so dumb she had to burn down the kindergarten to get into the first grade. Pretty much of a "blockhead" to say the least, but no worse than merchants who leave 1929 and '30 price tags hanging on shopworn and out of date merchandise, praying that enough ignorant victims may happen along to take up the loss in price declines.

Brightening up the home

By Dorothy Snow

The Charm of Maple

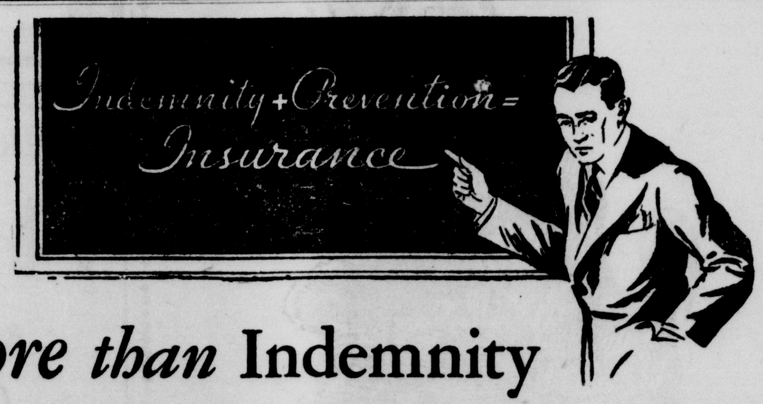

BETTER reasons than because it's "being done" explain why so much maple furniture is now used. The light, mellow coloring of this wood makes even a small, dark room seem more cheerful and inviting. The lines of maple furniture are always fresh and simple. This type of wood needs no ornamental carving. Its exquisite graining and fine patina, waxed to a satiny smoothness, are quite enough decoration.

The modern homemaker is finding that the inexpensive reproductions of Early American maple furniture fit very cozily into her rooms. Maple mixes well with mahogany and walnut furniture, providing all the styles are of the same simple spirit. Some of the maple pieces which are especially well adapted to the average home are: drop-leaf and butterfly tables, windsor and ladder-back chairs with rush seats, corner cupboards and Welch dressers, highboys, secretaries and all types of bedroom furniture.

These styles which are so popular and useful today are accurate copies of the sturdy furniture which the cabinetmakers of Colonial America made from the native maple trees. The wood has the same natural finish which made the old furniture so lovely, and when waxed it has a clear glow like the color of honey in sunlight. It is a hard, compactly grained wood which has an exceptionally brilliant luster when polished with wax. There is a certain quaintness and informality about maple furniture which makes it very appealing, whether it is a genuine antique or a faithful reproduction.

The dainty figure or graining in maple is one of its most charming features. The delicately patterned bird's-eye maple has for many years been almost a tradition for young girls' bedrooms. Curly maple is another favorite, and other varieties are the straight-grained, wavy, blister and fiddle-back types. All of the markings are accidental and may occur in any of the species of the tree. Hard maple, known as sugar or rock maple, is not really a soft wood, although it is less compact than the hard species.

There seems to be a sort of heirloom quality in maple furniture—probably because most of the styles are copied from fine antiques. And perhaps modern maple furniture will be among the heirlooms of the future, because this wood will constantly grow rarer since it comes from "single-growth" trees.

More than Indemnity

Your fire insurance dollar provides far more than you realize. Of course it protects you from financial loss in case of fire. But it does so much more that it ranks as one of the most effective dollars you spend.

Merely as indemnity, Stock Fire Insurance is one of the cheapest necessities. Its average rate has consistently declined for more than 20 years, until in 1930 it reached the lowest figure in all American fire insurance history.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

teaches better building practices—furnishes a service for the suppression of arson, another for the improvement of community fire defenses and conducts many general fire prevention activities, all of which have contributed to the reduction of fire waste and the loss of life by fire.

There are so many new items to mention this week we hardly know where to begin. Lane cedar chests are prettier this time than ever, with prices away down to the bottom. You should see the new numbers.

Four new rolls 12 ft. linoleum are now on the rack—all lacquered up ready for laying at new low prices. By the way, you will find floor coverings of all kinds priced on a level with corn and cotton prices.

Other new arrivals worthy of mention include vanity benches at $1.95; shadow lamps, $1.50; magazine racks, $1.00 and up, wall plaques, $1.50.

Silk bed sets with French doll in center, natural hair, real eye lashes and all that. Adds attractiveness to any bedroom.

In used goods worth while, we offer two excellent heating stoves, one Charter Oak, one Enterprise. So far as service goes, they are like new. Low prices are available with plenty of time to pay.

Wehave heard of a girl—or maybe it was a boy—who was so dumb she had to burn down the kindergarten to get into the first grade. Pretty much of a "blockhead" to say the least, but no worse than merchants who leave 1929 and '30 price tags hanging on shopworn and out of date merchandise, praying that enough ignorant victims may happen along to take up the loss in price declines.

Brightening up the home

By Dorothy Snow

The Charm of Maple

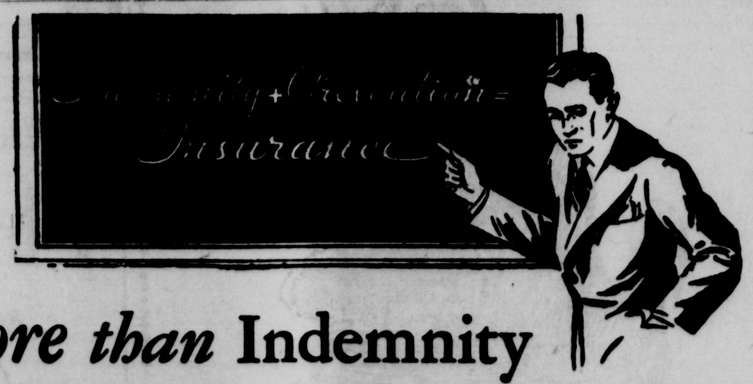

BETTER reasons than because it's "being done" explain why so much maple furniture is now used. The light, mellow coloring of this wood makes even a small, dark room seem more cheerful and inviting. The lines of maple furniture are always fresh and simple. This type of wood needs no ornamental carving. Its exquisite graining and fine patina, waxed to a satiny smoothness, are quite enough decoration.

The modern homemaker is finding that the inexpensive reproductions of Early American maple furniture fit very easily into her rooms. Maple mixes well with mahogany and walnut furniture, providing all the styles are of the same simple spirit. Some of the maple pieces which are especially well adapted to the average home are: drop-leaf and butterfly tables, windsor and ladder-back chairs with rush seats, corner cupboards and Welch dressers, highboys, secretaries and all types of bedroom furniture.

These styles which are so popular and useful today are accurate copies of the sturdy furniture which the cabinetmakers of Colonial America made from the native maple trees. The wood has the same natural finish which made the old furniture so lovely, and when waxed it has a clear glow like the color of honey in sunlight. It is a hard, compactly grained wood which has an exceptionally brilliant luster when polished with wax. There is a certain quaintness and informality about maple furniture which makes it very appealing, whether it is a genuine antique or a faithful reproduction.

The dainty figure or graining in maple is one of its most charming features. The delicately patterned bird's-eye maple has for many years been almost a tradition for young girls' bedrooms. Curly maple is another favorite, and other varieties are the straight-grained, wavy, blister and fiddle-back types. All of the markings are accidental and may occur in any of the species of the tree. Hard maple, known as sugar or rock maple, is not really a soft wood, although it is less compact than the hard species.

There seems to be a sort of heirloom quality in maple furniture—probably because most of the styles are copied from fine antiques. And perhaps modern maple furniture will be among the heirlooms of the future, because this wood will constantly grow rarer since it comes from "single-growth" trees.

More than Indemnity

Your fire insurance dollar provides far more than you realize. Of course it protects you from financial loss in case of fire. But it does so much more that it ranks as one of the most effective dollars you spend.

Merely as indemnity, Stock Fire Insurance is one of the cheapest necessities. Its average rate has consistently declined for more than 20 years, until in 1930 it reached the lowest figure in all American fire insurance history.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

teaches better building practices—furnishes a service for the suppression of arson, another for the improvement of community fire defenses and conducts many general fire prevention activities, all of which have contributed to the reduction of fire waste and the loss of life by fire.

ENGINEERS ARE TRYING TO HANDCUFF LIGHTNING

Using a lightning generator on wheels that looks like a hook-and-ladder truck and a camera that actually works as fast as lightning, General Electric engineers at Willseyville, N. Y., for the past month have been shooting a million and a half volts of artificial lightning into a power line exactly like the electric service systebc that run along city streets and supply electricity to the homes.

The lightning stroke "hits" in a millionth of a second but the camera catches it just the same, and the engineers study the resulting photograph, or oscillogram, in their dramatic crusade to handcuff natural lightning.

Local and neighborhood electric lines are the places of lightning's 'last stand'. The high-voltage transmission lines running from town to town are already protected, as are the great electric central stations with their immense generating machines.

But lightning can put a neighborhood line out of commission for an hour or longer simply because electrical engineers have not yet altogether learned just what happens when a lightning bolt hits these lines.

THOMAS JACKSON AUSTILL

Thomas Jackson Austill, born January 22, 1857, died last Tuesday of cancer and heart trouble at the age of 74 years, 9 months and 25 days. He was born in Indiana and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Homer Beck, 901 Murray Lane. with whom he had been making his home since the death of his wife, three years ago. A son is now living in Michigan.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock at the residence, Rev. Collins of Vanduser officiating. Interment in the Sikeston Cemetery, Albritton in charge.

JOHN ROPER

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the Bloomfield cemetery with Rev. Fry of Vanduser officiating for John Roper, 74, who died at the home of Mrs. Dan Lacy, near Morehouse, Sunday. Mr. Roper was born in Harrisburg, Ill., but for the past 48 years had made his home in Southeast Missouri.

His wife and a brother, David Roper of Bell City, survive. Albritton of Sikeston conducted the funeral.

THREE DUQUOIN MEN HELD IN CAIRO HOLDUP

Duquoin, Ill., November 18.—Oscar Parker, Charles Duke and Lester Armstrong, all of this city, were arrested here by Cairo authorities last night charged with robbing a Cairo taxi station and restaurant Monday night.

The three are alleged to have taken contents of cash register and three slot machines in the place of business in the absence of the proprietor. The slot machines were taken to Cape Girardeau, where Duke resides part time, following which the three returned to Duquoin, where they were apprehended. They will stand trial in Cairo.

Most real estate operators, subdividers, etc., realize that the continued success of their business is dependent upon the accurate description of their property both in advertising and in sales effort. They welcome a complete investigation on the part of the purchaser.

There are a few agents, however, who resort to trickery, deception, and sometimes outright misrepresentation to put over a sale. No reputable real estate dealer will countenance such sales tactics.

Regard suspiciously any statement on the part of the salesman to the effect that he will resell your property at a substantial profit before the second payment comes due. Do not rely upon verbal statements—they are not binding upon the company unless they are written into the contract. Read your contract carefully before you sign on the dotted line.

Favor Getting a Puppy to Buying a Mature Dog

Hints on Care and Training Given by Kennel Foundation.

Dog or puppy?

The choice of one or the other must be made by everyone who contemplates adding a canine pet to his household, states the Chappel Kennel Foundation, Rockford, Illinois. While some prefer a perfectly-trained grown dog, most people are inclined to agree with Albert Payson Terhune that a puppy is more desirable. For one thing, a puppy does not cost as much as a grown dog, and its future is entirely in your own hands.

Eating is the biggest thing in a puppy's life, and what and how he eats will either make or break him, according to the Foundation. "Little and often" is probably the best rule of successful puppy rearing. Feed four or five times a day from weaning time till four months of age and no more than four times a day at six months. Increase the ration as you decrease the number of feedings, but never serve more than just a trifle over what the puppy will eat up quickly. When the average puppy is at the end of twelve months ready to enter full doghood, he should be getting no more than two meals a day, and preferably one. If the puppy does ot finish the meal provided for him, what remains must be removed in a few minutes and nothing else should be given until the next feeding hour.

By nature the dog is a meat-eating animal, but under today's domesticated conditions, fresh raw meat from the butcher's is much too concentrated a diet. Research workers who have given thought to this problem in recent years have been able to develop scientifically-balanced canned meat foods which have taken all the guess out of dog and puppy feeding. They contain all the elements necessary for proper growth and development. Both puppies and dogs especially relish those made from horse meat. A part of every puppy's ration should be some dry food which has been softened with milk or water. This may be only a teaspoonful at six weeks, but should be increased with the size and condition of the animal. As the puppy grows older and its teeth stronger, dog biscuits in kibbled or whole form may be substituted. The biscuits afford the exercise demanded by the puppy's jaw and serve to keep his teeth clean.

Teach your puppy to eat at a regular place and time. Having regular feeding times will be a big aid in housebreaking him. Make it a practice to take him out for a walk shortly after feeding.

EXTRA CASH EACH FRIDAY TO ALL EARNEST WORKERS IN SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST

The Standard Offers Work To All Who Desire Cash In Exchange For Spare Time Effort; Enter And Win

ALL AWARDS ARE FREE

Many Popular and Attractive Features of This Campaign Make It Interesting As Well As Profitable For All Participants

The big subscription campaign of The Sikeston Standard, which is just being organized, is offering weekly pay to many men and women in this section of Missouri. Why not enter your name as a candidate and get your share of this generous distribution of cash?

Without investing one dollar, without risking one cent, you can make $600 cash in the next few weeks during your spare time. You cannot lose, for by entering this campaign yuo know that you will make more money than you are making now, as you will be using time which otherwise could not bring you so great a return.

This is not a beauty election, but a campaign in which salesmanship ability wins. You can now test whatever selling ability you possess and be generously paid for your work, as everyone who participates in this campaign will make money out of it, the amount depending entirely on the effort expended.

Valuable Awards

Why not earn your choice of a fine new Chevrolet, Plymouth or Ford, why not take that wonderful ocean trip which your heart has always longed for? Why sacrifice for months to save $600 when you can get $600 for your spare time between now and December 23?

What could be more inspiring than to earn a beautiful new automobile or $600 cash through your own efforts and through your own popularity among friends and acquaintances? What could possibly be grander than to realize that you have proved that you have salesmanship ability?

This is your big opportunity; do not let it slip by. Just remember, December 23 the person who has the highest credit total will receive the first grand award. Will that someone be you? The second award is the choice of a delightful trip to California or $200 cash. The candidates finishing in third, fourth, fifth and sixth positions will each receive a cash bonus.

Attractive Features

One feature of this campaign which is receiving much favorable comment is the fact that every Friday each worker is paid twenty per cent on all subscription money he or she has collected during the week.

A renewal from a present subscriber or collecting an arreage earns just as much commission and just as many credits as securing an entirely new subscription, so every family in the Sikeston trade territory is a prospect for a subscription to The Standard.

Another attractive feature is that the entire credit schedule has been announced and positively will not be changed. Everyone knows just what each subscription is worth in credits and there will be no guess work as to what the schedule will be for any subsequent week. Subscription money earns exactly twice as many credits now as later in the campaign. Today is the time to help one's favorite, while subscriptions earn the maximum number of credits.

Start Today.

A number of people are obtaining complete details of this Weekly Payroll Subscription Drive. Have you asked about it yet? If not, phone Sikeston 137, or write, or better still, come to The Standard, where the campaign manager will be glad to explain the entire proposition to you. Turn your spare time into cash. Be a winner!

DEMOCRATS FIGHT TAX INCREASE ON 'LITTLE FELLOW'

Washington, November 20.—Democrats served notice today they would oppose any attempt to increase taxes on the "little fellow".

This was their answer to Secretary of Treasury Mellon's proposals for increased normal taxes, lowering of exemptions to make more persons pay taxes, and a "selective" sales tax on such "semi-luxuries" as automobiles and radios. Mellon wants to raise a billion dollars to balance the budget.

The Mellon program, which also includes some increases in surtax rates on large incomes, has been endorsed by several senate administration leaders.

Representative Collier, Mississippi, Democrat, who may be chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, made it plain that he would fight any program which increased taxes on the small taxpayer.

He said the larger incomes should bear the brunt of the increase. But he was very careful to emphasize that they do not intend to put an undue burden upon wealth, business or industry.

The Mellon program is drafted along lines of the 1924 revenue act, which if followed would provide normal rates of 2 per cent on the first $4000 taxable income, 4 per cent on the next $4000, and 6 per cent above that. Present normal rates are 1½, 3 and 5, respectively. Exemptions of the 1924 law were $1000 for single persons and $2500 for married persons. Present exemptions are $1500 and $3500.

Miss Lynnette Stallcup and Miss Olga Matthews of Sikeston came today to attend the junior dance at Cape Girardeau Country Club and be the house guests of the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bergman, 629 North street.—Cape Missourian.

BULLDOG BITES WOODROW LITTLETON

Woodrow Littleton, 13, member of the eighth grade class of the local school, and prospective candidate for the high school football squad in a year or two, was bitten by a buulldog during a practice game last Thursday. According to Lynn Waggener, owner of the animal, the dog has been vaccinated, and doctors believe Littleton is in no danger from rabies. The boys were not molesting the bulldog, which incidently is the name of the football mascot here.

NEW HOUSE UNDER CONSTRUCTION NEAR LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

A building program started this summer with the erection of a number of attractive houses on Moore Avenue by Supt. Roy V. Ellise, across the street from the Sikeston High School gymnasium, is being continued by J. N. Hitchcock, local oil man, who last week started on a five-room bungalow at the intersection of Woodlawn and Moore Avenue. Lynn Ancell recently moved into this modern six-room home on the corner of Tanner and Moore Streets.

Mrs. A. C. Barrett, Miss Nanabelle Wilson and John Louis Wilson drove to Cairo Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noble are expecting their daughter, Miss Roberta, of St. Louis, to visit them over Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ward and family motored to Deering, Mo., Sunday, where they visited the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodman and family.

Misses Helen Waters and Geneva Calvin of the Matthews High School were callers at The Standard office Monday forenoon and it was a pleasure to show them through the shop that they might see just how a paper was made.

STARTS TO DELIVER SALE BILLS; FINISHES UP BY MARRYING GIRL

A whirlwind courtship of two months was concluded in truly modern fashion last Thursday, when Stanley Pirtle, assistant manager of Greener's Department Store, married Miss Arrie Lee Tackett, at the home of Rev. P. A. Kasey, pastor of the Charleston Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Comper, of the Baptist church, because Rev. Kasey had chosen Thursday to hunt birds.

Mr. Pirtle left Sikeston early Thursday morning, accompanied by Harry Shuffett and Miss Tackett, primarily to distribute special page handbills for Greener's. The work of distributing the dodgers took the party into Scott and Mississippi Counties.

A wedding license was procured, and the necessary notary public signature as to age affixed at the office of John Powell of Sikeston. The couple drove back to Charleston and at three o'clock the ceremony was performed.

The bride is the daughter of C. M. Tackett, of this city, and was a member of the Sikeston High School graduating class of 1930. She was employed in local department stores previous to her marriage.

Mr. Pirtle, the son of Mrs. Clyde E. Pirtle of Jackson, Tenn., has been employed for the past eighteen months at Greener's local store. He was graduated from the Jackson High School in 1929.

Mr. and Mrs. Pirtle are at home for the time being at the T. F. Henry residence. After the first of the year they will probably make their home in Memphis, Tenn.

The Standard joins a host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Pirtle a lifetime of happiness and success.

SCANTY ATTIRE OF LONDON WOMEN CAUSES MAHATMA TO LOWER EYES IN SHAME

London, November 21.—Mahatma Gandhi went to a reception last night at the home of Lady Astor, but today he disclosed that the gowns of the women guests caused him to lower his eyes in shame.

"Even to tropical India where the temperature often reaches 120 degrees, women never would dream of appearing on the streets half dressed as they do in London", he said. "Western women are mad with their own vanity. They worship the good fashion.

"It is sacrilige for them to allow beauty doctors to mar the faces God has given them, to pluck their eyebrows and distort their features".

FARM LOAN EXPERT TO BE IN BENTON, DECEMBER 2

Farmers desiring information regarding their Federal Seed Loan obtained last Spring, payments on same or desiring to have questions answered in regard to the loan may see V. Schwarz at the County Agent's office at Benton Wednesday, December 2.

FURNACE CLEANING OUTFIT WAS NOT BLIMP AKRON

A gignatic vacuum cleaner, used to remove soot from furnace pipes created almost as much excitement here Saturday afternon as would the arrival of the Blimp Akron. The cleaning outfit had traveled from Illinois Friday during the rain, and a huge cigar-shaped bag carried deflated on the top of the truck had gotten wet. The outfit stopped for several hours in a vacant lot adjoining the Ancell Standard Oil Station, Kingshighway, in order to dry out the large soot-gathering bag.

An all day meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Sr., Tuesday.

J. H. Spurling, from the Vanduser vicinity, was in Sikeston the other afternoon nursing a badly infected thumb caused by jamming his thumb accidently against a nail.

Mrs. Rosie Graves and sons, Herman and Ralph, and Miss Juanita Acord, of Oran, were Sikeston visiteors Saturday. Miss Acord had their subscription set up to October 19, 1932.

It will be just like some Democratic papers, after seeing the picture of the President's brother-in-law charged with bootlegging, to say he is guilty, but The Standard will say no such thing. We are waiting for the verdict.

NON-ATTENDANCE SERIOUS PROBLEM IN RURAL SCHOOLS

By Milus R. Davis

Evelyn Smith, St. Mary, has reopened school but reports a low attendance—only 5 or 6 pupils.

Low attendance is becoming serious in some districts and will cut the State aid for next year. Directors who wish to build up their attendance should call on O. E. Mitchell, Attendance Officer. Stubblefield School asked for his service last week.

The teachers' fund is exhausted in many schools now and warrants cannot be cashed. Our new income tax law will give the rural schools more aid next year. Attendance should be kept up the balance of the term in order to get full quota of aid.

A case of typhoid fever has developed in the Catron District and Dr. O'Bannon is scheduled to inoculate the community.

Dan Tyler, Stubblefield, is laid up with an injured knee which he received while playing ball at school. The joint was dislocated and ligaments torn. His wife is acting as substitute teacher.

A pupil of River Ridge School, near Canalou, died last week with diptheria. John Engram, director, has requested that the school be immunized against diptheria.

We can now provide district clerks with a copy of the 1931 Missouri School Laws, and have ordered a new supply so that we can also supply the president of each board and a copy for each high school library.

Supt. W. A. Shy, Lilbourn, is highly elated over the addition of a music department to the high school this year. Miss Clyde Cox of Malden is the instructor and her newly organized orchestra has already given onne public demonstration.

We note that Senator Roy McKittrick, Chariton County, has announced for Attorney General. The school men will surely be on hand to see that he is defeated in the primary. While we fought last winter for an income tax to support our schools and make possible a cut in property taxes, we well remember that McKittrick did his best to defeat this worthy measure.

Our schools and government must depend more on income tax which is paid by the wealthy who make incomes and are able to pay, and no party should honor a man who does not have the backbone to support this essential adjustment despite the influence of the rich.

A horde of policemen armed to the teeth are now milling about Wall Street to protect the money kings who have been threatened by the Communists. To the ignorant the use of bombshells is the only way to end rule by the autocracy of wealth.

But to the informed poor, legal adjustment is possible by voting wisely and electing men who have been found to be true blue. We can't keep people from getting poor but we can keep them from being taxed to death, by forcing those who make large incomes to pay most of the taxes, thus allowing the property tax to be cut.

Men like Roy McKittrick kept us from getting this adjustment in Missouri last winter. In spite of such fellows we got some income tax which allow us to cut property taxes some, but the program was broken up considerably.

LEVEE COMPLETED IN LITTLE RIVER DISTRICT

Cape Girardeau, November 22.—Rebuilding of the levee of a diversion channel of the Little River Drainage District, south of here, has been completed. The levee, taken over by the government in its plan for harnessing floods of the Mississippi River, protects the entire St. Francis River basin in Southeast Missouri. Rebuilding of the levee entailed expenditure of $300,000.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Fourten friends participated in a birthday surprise party last Thursday night at the home of Valarie Beal on North Handy Street, honoring Mrs. Augusta Weiganda. Refreshments of sandwiches and punch were served.

Mrs. Gertrude Colley and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Elize Boardman spent Sunday in Charleston with Mrs. Lou Brooks and family.

CAULFIELD ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION FOR THANKSGIVING

Jefferson City, November 20.—In perhaps the briefest Thanksgiving proclamation ever issued by a Missouri governor, Gov. Caulfield today called upon all Missourians for a thoughtful and reverent observance of Thanksgiving Day .

The proclamation said:

"I, Henry S. Caulfield, governor of the State of Missouri, in accordance with the proclamation of President Hoover, do hereby designate and proclaim Thursday, November 26, 1931, as Thanksgiving day and urge upon all our people a thoughtful and reverent observance of that day, thanking God for his mercies and blessings throughout the year".

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO HOLD THANKSGIVING SERVICE THURSDAY A. M.

According to Rev. W. H. Hoover, the annual Thanksgiving service at the Presbyterian church will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

TO HOLD B. & L. MEETING MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 7

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Sikeston Building & Loan Association will be held at the office of the secretary Monday evening, December 7 at 7:30 o'clock, acording to a notice from the first vice-president W. L. Huter. Election of directors and such other business which may come before the meeting will be transacted.

BANCROFTS HAS HE-MAN ROLE IN LATEST DRAMA

"Rich Man's Folly", which will be the Thanksgiving Day and Friday feature at the Malone Theatre, has a cast of great strength and poularity. George Bancroft has one of the strongest character roles he has ever undertaken.

Bancroft acts the part of a big shipbuilder, a man of large affairs in the business world, a dominating personality. Just to portray such a type is "easy stuff" for Bancroft, but the part calls for much more. He has to portray not only a type, but impersonate a character—a domineering, hard-fisted, ambition-mad man who has stifled all love and friendly feeling. This calls for the highest dramatic technique and vigor.

The story is one of big enterprise, ship-building. Money, power, ambition are the only things "Brock Trumbull" values. Kindness, a fair chance for others, love, friendship, romance are all set aside, until luck turns against him. Then, at last, he realizes the folly of piling up wealth and losing the love and friendship of those near and dear.

Robert Ames, who has the next important male role, made a name for himself as the "Ne'er Do Well" in the stage success "Icebound". In "Holiday" and "The Trespasser" he brilliantly assisted, first Ann Harding, and then Gloria Swanson.

The leading feminine role is played by Francess Dee, who sprang into prominence as leading lady with Chevalier in 'Playboy of Paris". Dawn O'Day plays the same character in childhood years. Juliette Compton adds her talents to a cast of unusual excellence.

FRIENDS HONOR CHRIS PORTER WITH PARTY

A surprise birthday party was given for Chris Porter at his home Saturday evening. Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Finney, Mr. and Mrs. Cordie Wicks, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. York, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Wesmoland, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Humes, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bacher, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Gillon, Mrs. Clarence Robinson, Misses Anna Ryan, Lola Terley, Mary Louise Arnett, Mary Stubblefield, Beulah Hawe, Beulah and Marie Price and Alva Couch.

Many lovely gifts were received and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Arthur Barrett is spending a couple of days in Jefferson City.

A total of 368 Sikeston members of the National Red Cross have renewed their annual memberships during the Roll Call Drive, according to H. E. Dudley, Scott County Secretary and F. E. Mount, County Chairman. The number includes eight memberships turned in Monday morning. They are divided as follows: Three $100-memberships, two $10; one $8, twenty $5, one $4, two $3, one $2.50, six $2 and 332 one-dollar memberships.

Nearly all fraternal, civic and social organization in the city have, by agreement, decided to allow the Red Cross Chapter to handle local charity work this winter. This accounts for the donations of ten dollars each by the D. A. R., U. D. C., I. O. O. F. and W. C. T. U. Chapters. The Eastern Star and Sikeston Rebekah lodges each donated $5. Seven donations, each less than $1.00, amount to $2.75.

In other words, the Sikeston drive has netted a total of $837.25, although the number of memberships is only 368, or approximately half of the goal, 700, announced at the beginning of the drive.

There seems to be a general misunderstanding of the National-Local distribution of funds derived in the annual drive. Of each $1.00 contributed only fifty cents goes to National headquarters to meet emergency demands. Likewise, only 50c of each contribution of $2.50, $5.00 or of $100 went to National headquarters, and the balance retained by the local chapter.

Right now we need approximately 350 memberships in order to meet the Nationa quota, according to Mr. Mount. The National Chapter has felt very kindly toward Southeast Missouri, and Scott County. Thousands of dollars have been poured out in flood and drouth relief work, and only a fraction of that amount will ever be repaid even though we reach our quota each year. This time it seems as though Sikeston and Scott County will fail to meet the quota established.

NEW MANAGER FOR PIGGLY WIGGLY

Beginning next Saturday the local Piggly Wiggly Store will be managed by Henry Stone, formerly of a Cairo store, succeeding Hugh Stewart, local manager for the past three years. Mr. Stewart will be transfered to one of the Cairo Stores.

Mr. Stone is a young man with several years' experience as manager of a Cairo Store, and comes to the local store highly recommended. He spent Friday and Saturday in Sikeston getting acquainted with customers and store routine here, but will not assume charge until next Saturday.

It is with genuine regret that many friends of Hugh Stewart learn of his transfer. In the three years of his residence here, he has won a host of friends both for himself and for the store. He is as yet undecided as to his future, but will probably return to Cairo, home of his mother.

FARM HOUSE BURNS THURSDAY MORNING

The R. H. Aldridge home, about 3 miles east of Sikeston on Highway 60, burned at 9:30 o'clock last Thursday morning. The family and friends were able to save all household furnishings except the kitchen floor covering, since the blaze was discovered in the attic of the dwelling. The family is now living in a smaller house on the farm until plans can be made to rebuild. A defective flue is believed to have caused the fire.

McMULLIN ESTATE LESPEDEZA ACREAGE ONE OF LARGEST IN STATE OF MISSOURI

According to James Kevil, manager of the C. F. McMullin Estate, the crop of Korean Lespedeza this year is one of the finest in the State of Missouri. Experiments have been conducted on the McMullin lands for several years, and last spring approximately 200 acres were planted to this variety.

The finest seed obtainable was purchased, and the results this fall are very gratifying. The fields have been under thes upervision of Professor James M. King, of the College of Agriculture, Columbia, who advised certain methods of handlinf the crop, keeping out dodder, and storing the seed crop.

Special machinery consisting of a Lespedeza huller with a recleaning attachment was purchased and used this fall, and particular pains were taken to keep fields free from obnoxious dodder. The McMullin tracts are located north of Sikeston near McMullin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Coleman, Miss Christinia Glover and Albert Lowe spent Sunday in Memphis, Tenn., returning that night.

Mrs. Laura Smith, Dr. H. L. Smith, wife and son, Linn, and Miss Riley, of Sikeston, were here Sunday and called at our house to find us gone, which we rgeret. All are real nice people.—Dexter Statesman.

CANNON DEFENSE FUND BEING RAISED

Washington, November 20.—Southern Methodist ministers and laymen are contributing funds for the defense of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., on charges of violating the corrupt practices law in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Charles W. Warden, a Presbyterian and investment broker of this city, has been designated treasurer by friends of the Bishop who sponsored the campaign. Five of these sent a letter from Lynchburg, Va., on October 31 to ministers of the Southern Methodist Conference and some of the aymen. This letter was addressed "Dear Fellow Worker" and signed by George P. Adams, Blackstone; Lucius Gregory, Chase City; A. C. Garnett, Jr., Buckingham; Bennett T. Taylor, Prospect, and George G. Wilkinson, Cumberland, Va.

Warden today, after first communicating with the clergymen, declined to say how much has been collected.

No sum has been fixed as an objective of the campaign.

KAPPLER'S SPUD SHOWS TRUE AMBITIOUS SPIRIT

Andy Kappler, 643 Ethel street, this city, brought an Irish potato to The Standard office Saturday afternoon that caried out the modern spirit of progress. This spud is of the 1931 crop, dug in July, and at this writing has developed a sprout six and one-half feet long.

PEOPLE ARE SURPRISED THAT WE ARE STILL IN BUSINESS! They freely predicted our failure when the first announcement of our trucking business was presented to them years ago. Some of them are still doubting the wisdom of our choice of a business---they are the ones who have failed to take advantage of our service in the transporting of their needs. It is no surprise to those who do use our service, for they know why we have been enabled to maintain our business until we have become the oldest truck line serving Southeast Mo. daily. Telephone No. 11.

See where a man died the other day at the age of 106 years. We'll venture the assertion that he never heard of Vitamins A, B, C, or D, and that he was not a bit particular as to whether he got the needed amount of calories each day or not.

The grand jury at Jonesboro, Ark., failed to bring an indictment against anyone for the burning of Rev. Jeffers tent in that city. Perhaps it was set on fire by the hellfire the Reverend had been preaching, or, it might have been sent on him for the ugly wishes he passed out on respectable citizens.

The Hoover Commission on home building and ownership has made a report, and in their study found that the houses of this country were far below par. In fact they are "our largest mass of obsolete and discredited equipment" to use the words of the investigators. Well, since the "chicken in every pot" slogan went over so big in '28, maybe President Hoover will run for re-election in '32 on a "mansion for every lot" platform.—Malden Merit.

We have always had the highest regard for Catholics and for Catholicism, but if we were to believe the things said and implied by the well known Bishop Cannon, it would be hard to keep this respect. However, we never have put much importance to the alibis of this high church dignitary. His latest outburst came last week when he attributed his indictment by an Eastern grand jury to the fact that it was made up mostly of Catholics. Previous to this excuse he had placed the blame on the religion of the district attorney. It has been very noticeable that Catholics have never denounced the Methodists, the denomination so badly represented by the Bishop. In fact, we have never heard Catholics speak ill of any faith, which comes nearer to living up to principles of religious freedom that was so largely responsible for the settlement of America.—Shelbina Democrat.

WHO'LL BE THE KEYNOTERS?

The sounding of the keynotes in the 1932 campaign will be the job of super-politicians. A keynoters should be an adonis in appearance, silver-tongued in voice, deliver a masterpiece of diction, embodying the acme of achievement and promise. sounding phrases that are pleasing to the extremes, praising party performances, defending its delinquencies and denouncing the enemy, and all in all, execute a perofrmance par excellence. It is a large roder to get such a man, but the hunt is on and, no doubt, before the steam rollers of the conventions start to move, persons to meet the requirements of the conventions will have been found.

In the Democratic party it might be easier to find the man if service alone should head the list of the strict requirements. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, leader of his party in the Senate, who has been in the trenches and on the firing line, could easily qualify if merit and preeminent performance along with the other requirements were to be recognized. Senator Robinson became leader when there were decidedly many less Democrats in the Senate than now and the party has grown steadily in strength under his leadership. If ruggednes of character and ability were required, John Garner of the House, could sound off for the Democrats as he, too, has led the battle where the fighting was the hardest.

When geographic equation comes into the selection, Senator Robert Bulkley of Ohio could perform for the Middle West and if sweet-tongued phrases, palatable to all, were a prime factor and geographic fitness wanted, James Hamilton Lewis, who was elected from the rock-ribbed Republican tSate of Illinois, by an unprecedented Democratic majority, would easily qualify. The silver-tongued voice of Senator Pat Harrison would charm the populace to acclaim and Senator Robert Wagner of New York, inspirer of the unemployment relief legislation, could eloquently fill all requirements.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Governor George White of Ohio, former Governor Byrd of Virginia, former Secretary of War Baker, could not read with excellent judgment the party principles. Senators David I. Walsh of Massachusetts and Wheeler of Montana could make the welkin ring, and the youthful senator from Maryland, Millard E. Tydings, who performed so ably in the two last campaigns as chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, could well tell of his party promises and performances. And there are many ohters of the Democratic faith, such as, Morris Sheppard and John McDuffie, Democratic whips of the Senate and House, who would, if selected for the keynoter, fill the bill creditably.

For the Republican keynoter preeminently stands Senator James Watson of Indiana. He, like Senator Joe Robinson, has lead his party in the Senate and in addition, Senator Watson has fought the battles of the administration. Should reward for party loyalty and service be the controlling factor, Senator Watson should lead. The fair-haired boy of the administration's circle is Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war. He could with enthusiasm defend the depression, praise the tariff, minimize the administration's shortcomings, and amplify its achievements. Ambassador Dawes, whose financial acumen always keeps him in the picture, is sufficiently acquainted with the administration's workings to tell them to the world. Young Teddy Roosevelt, who is looked upon by some as a coming fixture of the Republican party, might be the one selected for hsi important duty.

Senator Charles M. McNary from the West, assitant leader of the Senate, could with credit to his party and his State, sound the party call. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, who never tires of leading the Young Turks of the Senate, could well qualify, but to complete the picture of Republican harmony, Calvin Coolidge, if he could be persuaded, would bring the harmonious feature to the Republican convention, a consummation much to be desired. Should the left wing of the Republican party be given recognation, Senator Borah or Governor Pinchot would undoubtedly be chosen.

In January, when the national committees meet in Washington, the subcommittees which make the selection of the keynoters and choose the permanent chairman and the cities to which the conventions are to go, have many problems to settle before a selection is made.

The depression has curtailed traveling expenses to the extent that the Democrats would like to have a city in the Middle West, such as, Kansas City, Chicago, St. Louis, or Cleveland, and this might well suit them geographically also. San Francisco has asked to be considered. The Republicans are debating about Atlantic Ciyt and Philadelphia, with Chicago as a contestant city.

Whether the keynoters shall be wet or dry will give the Democrats concern and the city offering the handsomest contribution to the national committee will also have large influence with the Democratic and Republican managers.

It is interesting to note that all of the potential Democratic keynoters are mentioned as presidential candidates whereas Republican possibilities, since duty forces Mr. Hoover to run again and his party to renominate him, can only seek the vice-presidency. Word is being passed around "the Hill" that Bernard M. Baruch will be the permanent chairman of the next Democratic national session. —The Pathfinder.

VIVID COLORS ARE "IN" SAYS LOUGH, MANAGER OF BUCKNER'S, BACK FROM EAST

Better materials, better tailoring and lower prices are the keynote of the market in ready-to-wear clothing, both for women and men, according to George Lough, manager of the Buckner-Ragsdale Store Co., here, who has just returned from New York. He went primarily to a convention of the Affiliated Clothiers, a buying association of clothiers from all parts of the country. Two floors of the Hotel New Yorker were turned over to displays of men's clothing. Generally speaking, men are favoring plainer styles in woolens.

This is a season especially designed for the woman who delights in vivid colors, for high shades are new and good in woolens, silks nad even in cotas, according to Mr. Lough.

Of these strong colors, tile is probably the best just now. But green also is good, as well as some other favorites. For the woman who likes less conspicuous things, a new shade of dark brown is weeping the market.

As has been the case all Fall, knit wear is exceptionally modish this season in the sport field. Both color combinations and distinctive lines have emphasized its adaptability to almost any type of woman.

Coats, Mr. Lough said, are lavishly furred, with black still leading as the favorite.

Those who have feared the long skirts would go to extremes may be relieved on that point. According to Mr. Lough, evening dresses are full length, but other skirts are about as they have been all Fall, varying according to the lines of the dress and the purpose for which it is intended.

Boucle which has been so popular for suits and dresses, has invaded the accessory field. Flat, very tailored, rather large purses are appearing in black, tile or other shades of boucle. These usualy are trimed with large, severely modernistic black and silver ornaments.

LUXURY OF KINGS IS NOW COMMON ARTICLE OF FOOD

When the knights of old and their ladies are gathered about the banquet board their fare was largely meats, gravies, and pastries, all heavily spiced. Spices were commonly used to disguise the flavor of foods which, because of the lack of proper rerigeration, had become slightly off in taste.

Spices were the luxury of kings and the quest for them sent armies marching, started the mallets clattering in a thousand shipyards, and raised the black flag to the top of the tall masts of innumerable pirate vessels.

A few grains of spice go a long way in the average modern kitchen, but commerce in this vlauable palate-pleaser has shown no signs of slackening. Spices have become a necessity.

In common with other imported foods, all spices shipped into the United States must be submitted to the skillful analytical methods of Government food afficials, who examine these products to make sure that they meet the specifications for purity and honesty of labeling required by the Federal food and drugs act.

Officials stationed at eastern ports alone examined more than 36,000,000 pounds of spices entered during the year which ended May 31, 1931. This huge supply included more than a score of different varieties and but 1,500,000 pounds were detained for their failure to meet the requirements of the national pure food law.

The housewife who goes to the store for spices should consult her grocer as to the nature nad cost of different grades and varieties. Few buyers know very much about spices —where they come from and what they are. Some people stil believe that all-spice is so named because it contains all the spies in a mixture. Allspice really is the dried unripe fruit of the pimenta tree. Allspice gets its name because it has been said to have the odor of all the spices. Similar popular misconceptions are common with regard to other spices.

Examinations of imported spice tend to prohibit the sale in the United States of impure or adulterated goods or of those which are misbranded under the food and drugs act. The housewife should remember also, when making her purchase, to note carefully the words on the label which tell how much spice te can or box contains. Some spice packages are deceptive and, since spices sell at a relatively high price, it will pay the buyer to read the label carefully.

Fletcher Henstep says every poor person with a lot of children ought to have three or four cars, in order that there wouldn't be any argument as to who would use it, as there is enough argument already.—Commercial Appeal.

For Shame Madam!

The very idea . . . setting aside seven days out of 36 for your baby, when every week is Baby Week at home. Agree with you? . . . oh, my yes . . . here at White's we don't wait until the calendar says "Baby Week" to price his needs (bless his heart) at special figures. Many and many's the mother who shops for baby at White's the year round . . . . so why not during this week we call his own (as if he'd care).

Make it a point to let White's fill your baby's prescription needs, too!

NICHOLAS BUTLER LISTS 14 POINTS FOR REPUBLICANS

New York, November 18.—An appeal for unity in the Republican party was made last night by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, in an address before the National Republican Club.

Butler listed fourteen "declarations of prinicple and policy" which he said the party should adopt if it expects to win in next year's election.

"There has been no Republican national organization, in the true sense of those words, since the convention of 1912", he asserted.

His fourteen "declarations" follow:

(1) Prompt and unconditional repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

(2) Reconstruction and reduction of existing tariff schedules for the purpose of developing American industry, trade and transportation, of maintaining the standard of living, of reducing unemployment and of aiding the vast agricultural areas.

(3) Balancing of the budget of the federal government, first, through rigid economy in making appropriations, and, second, through the imposition of such taxes, primarily upon the accumulated wealth of the country, as may be required to meet the necessary expenses of the government year by year.

(4) Whole-hearted co-operation with the League of Nations, permanent Court of International Justice and the Bank for International Settlements.

(5) Examination anew, in international conferences, of the whole question of reparations and inter-governmental war debts.

(6) Intermediate steps to disarmament.

(7) Submission of the proposal for a constitutional amendment to bring a newly elected congress into session within two months of the time of its election. to the States, with the urge for ratification.

(8) Establishment in the several States of a system of social service to safeguard men and women against the risks of modern industry.

(9) Development of natural resources of the people without permitting either monopoly or exploitation of the people whose natural resources they are.

(10) Enactment of legislation to protect railways from unfair and unregulated competition in interstate commerce.

(11) Thorough study of industry leading to adjustment to new conditoins; either amendment or modification of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

(12) Calling of international conference on monetary standards.

(13) Formulation of a plan to adapt farming to new and well-nigh revolutionary conditions.

(14) Curbing and simplification of the "huge, costly and wasteful bureaucracy which has grown up at Washington".

CHARLESTON TO HOLD CITY-WIDE THANKSGIVING SERVICE THURS. MORNING

The annual Thanksgiving service for the City will be held at the auditorium of the High School Thursday, November 26, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. S. W. Driggers, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will preside. Rev. P. A. Kasey, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the sermon.

Special music for the occasion is being arranged by J. E. Williams of the Christian church.

The free will offering taken will be given over to the Red Cross.

A THANKSGIVING FEAST

So long as harvests heap their bounties into baskets, so long as pumpkins turn golden on the vine, so long as turkeys strut their stuff and we prize Pilgrim heritage, there will always be a Thanksgiving feast. There will be the traditional roast fowl with stuffing, savory sauces, harvest fruits in delicious combination, and puddings and pies festively rich far beyond the aspirations of puddings and pies for any other dinner of the year.

The table remains much the same from one Thanksgiving to another—but how strikingly different our modern kitchen looks from that of our grandmother's on Thanksgiving morning. Were the housewife of two generations ago a guest at our annual east this year, she would stare at our kitchen in amazement, doubting there was to be nay east at all!

For the modern feast is becoming more and more simple to prepare, and there are countless conveniences which make it possible to prepare much of it in advance. Thus the modern housewife, who is serving a dinner at 1 o'clock can be prettily gowned ready to receive and enjoy her guests even thought they arrive informally before the noon hour. Her mind is already at rest as to the ultimate success of her dinner, and the last-minute touches can be done with ease.

Now for a peek into the modern kitchen. At 12 o'clock the only real sign of cooking is the turkey roasting golden-brown in the oven. Canapes have been prepared early in the morning ready for last minute browning in the oven. Sweet potatoes have been cooked the day before and are now already stuffed in orange cup waiting for their final few moments of browning. The consomme, cooked earlier, is ready for a few moments' simmering before serving. The refrigerator contains canned pears which have been pickled and chilled to be served with cheese balls, also ready for a final tossing into a crisp, delectable salad. The whipped cream on the refrigerator shelf will be the final touch to that delicious squash pie which was baked a whole day in advance.

Is it any wonder, then, that the modern Thanksgiving hostess is as careree and gay as her guests as she announces dinner? Here is her menu—the recipes are tested and designed to serve eight persons:

Hot Pimento Canapes
Olives Consomme Julienne
Mixed Pickles
Roast Turkey Oyster Stuffing
Giblet Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Creamed Cauliflower
Sweet Potatoes in Orange Cups
Frozen Cranberries
Pickled Pear and Cheese Salad
Squash Pie with Honey and Whipped Cream
Camembert Cheese with Crackers
Spiced Nuts
Coffee

Tested Recipes:

Hot Pimento Canapes—Prepare as many toast circles as there are guests. Spread with butter and then a layer of mayonnaise. Cut circles of canned pimento the same size as the toast circles and place one on each. Sprinkle generously with grated cheese and a few grains of salt, and press a whole stuffed olive in the center of each. Place under the broiler flame until the cheese melts and browns slightly. Serve at once with parsley garnish.

Consomme Julienne—Cut one-half cup of raw carot and one-fourth cup of celery in match-like strips, and cut one-fourth cup of canned stringless beans in lengthwise shreds about an inch and a half long. Melt one tablespoon of butter in a pan, add the vegetables and cook slowly until the vegetables are slightly brown. Add the contents of four No. 1 cans of consomme and simmer up till the vegetables are tender. Season to taste. Serve in bouillon cups with a few vegetables in each.

Sweet Potatoes in Orange Cups—Beat three cups of hot mashed sweet potatoes with one-fourth cup of butter, one teaspoon salt, one and one-half tablespoons sugar and three-fourth cup of crushed pineapple until the mixture is light and fluffy. Cut four oranges in halves, remove the pulp carefully (reserving it for salad, fruit cups or breakfast fruit) and pile the potato mixture lightly in the orange shells. Sprinkle one-third cup of chopped salted peanuts on top and brown in a hot oven.

Squash Pie with Honey and Whipped Cream—To one-half of a No. 3 can of squash (or two cupfuls) add one and one-half cups of thin cream or milk, three-fourths cup of sugar which has been mixed with three-fourths teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon cinnamon and one teaspoon salt. Then add three eggs which have been beaten not too light. Pour into the crust and bake like a custard pie, having the oven hot at first, and then reduced (450 degrees for 10 minutes, 325 degreees for 30 minutes, or until the filling is set and a knife comes out clean). Cool. Spread a layer of honey over the top, cover with unsweetened whipped cream and serve.

WILD GAME SHOWER ASSURES TOWN FOOD

Milan, Mo., November 19.—Milan citizens have their Thanksgiving birds early. Three hundred wild ducks and geese, apparently confused on a night flight by lights in the town square, dived into telephone wires and buildings here and fell to the ground. Most of them were captured.

Green peas should not be shelled the day before using. They are apt to become tough and indigestible if exposed to the air for any length of time.

Just about every farmer we meet is pleased with the big yields from his fields and all speak of the low prices. All of this is true, but every acre has produced from twice to three times the ordinary yields and at less cost. In the general sum up, the farmer has fared pretty well. Of course, with good prices for everything, a lot of old debts could have been wiped out and many things neded in the home and on the farm could have been secured, but they have lived, have plenty of food for man and beast, and should thank the Lord for the blessings bestowed.

Armistice Day speeches, although carefully prepared, and for the main part well worth listening to, contained little that was new. Most of the orators, generally men of experience, preached from the text that the best way to avoid war is to be ready for it, qualifying the maxim, in some instances, with the observation that too much money should not be spent just now. In the old days, when champions of contending armies used to engage in personal combat, David killed Goliath with a stone and a sling-shot. The Armistice Day remarks were no endorsement of David's pebble.

The first thing asked by a caller at The Standard office Monday morning was: Did any weddings, or other accidents happen since Saturday?"

Are you doing your best to get out of debt, or, are you spending every cent you get hold of to try to keep up with your neighbor? A lot of merchants and tradesmen have almost lost confidence in mankind for the way they are being treated when they extended credit in an emergency, If you can only pay one dollar or two dollars, each week on some of your back bills it will help and be appreciated. The merchant knows your condition and if you will show him that you are doing your best, he'll pat you on the back and encourage you. But if you buy beyond your means and dodge him, you know what list you are placed on. Keep your standing and pay your bills.

All three are dangerous to life and limb. These three offenders should be taken off the road as soon as caught and stiff fines assessed—heavier for the drunk driving a car. The man with but one light shining may have started out with two good shiners there is no excuse for the drunk and wagon. Every caution should be taken. Examine your car lights before starting out and keep your lanterns in order.

The Dominion of Canada has expended about fifty million dollars on public works, to tide over her present dearth of employment. This is but another indication of the initiative and progressiveness of our neighbor to the north. Few things are more pleasing to citizens of the United States than the vigor of Canada, and the expansion of mutual understanding and friendly relations between the two lands, the latest indication of which is the joint effort to promote the St. Lawrence waterway. The annexation ghost, never a clearly observed phenomen in the United States, no longer walks in the Dominion; each nation realizes that its own interests are best promoted by the example and friendly cooperation of the other, acting as an independent sovereignty; and all signs point to a peaceful and kindly relationship of long duration.

THIS WEEK IN MO. HISTORY

Floyd C. Shoemaker

Shadows of Civil War cast a gloom over financial conditions of Missouri and the United States in the Fall of 1860, reaching an abrupt climax in this State on November 28, when all St. Louis banks but one suspended specie payment.

Paradoxically, the financial crisis had come at a time when business conditions seemed favorable. But after the presidential election of early November, fears of the coming war drove the country into a financial crisis.

At St. Louis on November 25, officials of all banks met to consider suspension of specie payments. The decision was against suspension, but two days later at another conference, the first action was reversed. The Bank of the State of Missouri, the official action was reversed. The Bank of the State of Missouri, the official State Bank, together with the Merchant's Bank, had opposed suspension, but finally they consented to the insistence of the other banks.

The Exchange Bank, having very small circulation outstanding, refused to attend the conference, and was the only bank in the State which continued specie payment after November 28. Branch banks throughout the State followed the action of the main banks in St. Louis.

The whole United States had experienced a crisis in 1857, but recovery was comparatively rapid. From a condition that was called the darkest in business history up to that time, the country had evolved into comparative prosperity. A series of good crops, increased river traffic, and transportation had nearly completed a restoration of stability.

The spectre of Civil War, however, even in the face of good business conditions, so frightened capital that another crisis impended by 1860. Circulation of money in Missouri alone had decreased $4,000,000 from July, 1859 to August, 1860. Even the conservative bank of the West, the great Bank of the State of Missouri, could not always redeem its circulation. Financial conditions were changing rapidly.

Missouri's financial condition was better than her neighbors', however, but this unstable condition elsewhere added to Missouri's difficulties. Arkansas had no banks in 1860, and Iowa had but thirteen. There were seventy-two in Illinois, but the currency of the State was worse than Missouri's. In Missouri there were forty-three chartered banks in thirty-three towns, and thirty-two private bank houses, seventeen of which were in St. Louis.

Suspension of specie payments seemed to be approved by the business men and editors of the State. It was generally conceded that the suspension was wise, and would prevent unnecessary depletion of specie. The Columbia Missouri Statesman said the general opniion was that the financial crisis was caused by political factors, and not by "financial errors or excesses".

Demands were made soon on the legislature to relieve the banks and on March 18, 1861, a semi-suspension law went into effect, removing the penalties for suspension and providing for the payment of the July interest on the State debt. The St. Louis banks in April, 1861 agreed to support one another's notes, but the whole war period was marked by varying periodsof suspension and resumption. The Exchange Bank continued its policy of payment.

One financial feature in St. Louis of the War was the issuing of fractional currency. Although forbidden by law, the Bank of St. Louis, in August of 1861 issued small notes and other banks followed. A small change was scarce, the currency passed freely.

Though Missouri banks, as Missouri people, were divided by the War, they were able to render considerable war service despite their weakness. The close division of sentiment is shown in a report issued in 1861, showing the sympathies of the St. Louis banks. Three were Union and four were Southern, but the circulation of the three Union banks was several thousand dollars more than that of the Southern banks.

Tobe Moseley's wife says most men don't have much sense until they get a few gray hairs in their head, and that most of them just have to go ahead and make out with the gray hairs.—Commercial Appeal.

GENERAL VON STEUBEN'S BIRTHDAY RECALLS SERVICE IN REVOLUTION

Frederick William Augustus Henry Ferdinan von Steuben was the modest name of an able German soldier who presented himself to General Washington at Valley Forge on a bleak day in February, 1778. He was received with every honor, and his name—or the last seventh of it—was given that day as the watchword in camp.

Steuben had come to America on the importunities of Saint-Germain, then French minister of war. The heads of the French Government were taking the American Revolution seriously. They fully intended that England should be beaten, and no opportunity to assist their allies, the United States, was overlooked. Germain knew that von Steuben had what the American army needed—a thorough knowledge of military tactics and discipline. That he prevailed upon the German soldier to cast his lot with the Revolutionists was a most fortunate thing for the Americans.

Von Steuben was already well known in Europe when he decided to come to America. The son of a famous soldier, he had been practically raised in the army. He had served with distinction as aide de camp to Frederick the Great, and it is perhaps no exaggeration to say that he was among the most eminent of the military tacticians of his day.

Soon after his arival at Washington's headquarters, von Steuben was given the responsibility fo introducing discipline into the American army. He afterwards wrote that he did not believe any existed among the troops at that time. He was perhaps right, for he came into the army at the very time when the entire establishment was at its worst. Conditions were such that Washington wrote Congress the army was on the verge of disbanding.

A less resolute heart than von Steuben's would have shrunk from his task. But years of military training now stood him in good stead. The Baron went to work on the troops, himself doing the work of a drill sergeant. Many stories have been told of von Steuben's work. He could not speak English, and when the men exasperated him with their awkardness, it is said that he cursed them in German and French until he was wellnigh exhausted. But his kindly heart won for him the love and respect of his soldiers.

November 15 was the 201st anniversary of Steuben's birth.

ADVOCATE MEAT IN THE DIET OF GROWING CHILD

"Perhaps there is no more critical age for our children than from one to six", says Inez S. Willson, home economist. Every mother of a youngster between those ages will fine 'The Child From One to Six—His Care and Training' a source of much valuable information. This is a publication of the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, and may be secured for ten cents by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

Mothers can place complete reliance in this book, since it is the work of well-known authorities in the different fields which it covers. Some folk may scoff at bringing up a child by book, but a little advice from experts never comes amiss.

One section of the twelve whech the book contains is devoted to "Food and Eating Habits". Perhaps no other one thing is the source of more difficulty than what and how the youngsters should eat.

According to this book, the following is what a well-balanced diet for the average child from one to six should contain:

A pint and a half of whole milk each day, but never more than a quart. Too much milk will make the child neglect other essential foods.

Fruits once or twice daily, including at least one raw food.

One or more fresh vegetables a day, with green, leafy vegetables at least three or four times a week.

A starchy vegetable, potatoes, rice, or macaroni, once a day.

An egg daily.

A serving of fresh meat or fish daily by the time the child is 18 months old; before that three or four times a week.

Cereal once or twice a day.

Bread and butter two or three times a day.

Cod-liver oil daily, at least for children under two years of age.

Space does not permit discussing why all these different foods are required daily, but since meat in the young child's diet has been and is a moot question, it may be well to tell the reason it is included.

"Meat and fish supply valuable proteins, minerals, and vitamins". The body needs daily proteins and mineral salts for the building of bones, teeth, blood, body tissues and fluids, as well as vitamins for its normal growth and functioning. A failure to provide any one of these food materials in sufficient amounts to meet the body needs eventually results in malnutrition.

"At the beginning of the second year small servings of tender meat—beef, chicken, lamb, or liver, boiled, broiled, or roasted, and finely minced, should be given at least three times a week. By the time the child is 18 months old, he may have meat or fish every day. As the child's ability to chew increases, he may be given larger pieces of meat, but it must always be tender".

BIG LIVESTOCK SHOW SOON ON IN CHICAGO

Chicago.—American agriculture in all its complexity, magnitude, and importance will be on spectacular review here during the first week of December at the 32nd anniversary of the nation's foremost farming display, the International Live Stock Exposition, November 28 to December 5.

From the four corners of the continent the leading livestockmen, farmers, and farm boys and girls will bring the finest specimens of their herds, fields, and handiwork to compete for the national honors awarded in the competition sof this far famed show. Stockmen and farmers whose aim is national and international recognition know that the goal is most surely reached through Chicago championships.

Expidition To Hunt Historic Treasure On Sunken Louisitania

New York, November 20.—Plans for the recovery of articles of historic and intrinsic value from the wreck of the liner Lusitania were announced here tonight by D. B. Lewis, treasurer of the Lake-Bailey Lusitania Expedition, the headquarters of which are in this city.

The originators of the scheme to salvage objects of interest from the famous vessel, which was torpedoed off the head of Old Kinsale, Ireland, on May 7, 1915, are Simon Lake, the submarine builder and invention, and Capt. H. H. Railey, who was the personal representative of Admiral Byrd during the Antarctic expedition. Mr. Lewis said that the latter will be the leader of the present expedition and that Mr. Lake will be the chief of technical operations.

Negotiations with the British Admiralty and others are now under way, Mr. Lewis said, and it is hoped that the salvage work will be started within two months. The work is to be carried out largely by the aid of a steel tube long enough to be lowered to the decks of the Lusitania at a depth of about 200 feet.

The tube, dropped as a "steel-inclosed stairway" with an observation chamber near the lwoer end, was invented by Mr. Lakee and has, according to Mr. Lewis, been tested in the English Channel.

From the observation chamber, Mr. Lewis explained, a diver can descend onto the wreck, and by means of powerful lighting apparatus the scene could be amply illuminated. It is planned, Mr. Lewis added, to take a series of photographs of all parts of the vessel.

Capt. Railey has been in England for the past six weeks, working on the project. While it is considered that the Lusitania lies eight miles out at sea, and therefore in a sort of "No-Man's Sea", the permissiou of the British Admiralty is not essential. Nevertheless, Mr. Lewis said, the approval of that body, as well as that of the Liverpool and London War Risk Association, were being sought, if not for anything else, as a matter of courtesy.

The wreck of the Lusitania, Mr. Lewis said, is regarded as "abandoned property". The liner was sunk in 240 feet of water and investigations have shown that the wreck is in an upright position, making salvage operations less difficult. A buoy marks the spot where the ship sank.

"We hope to have divers on the wreck within two months", said Mr. Lewis, "and we expect that the salvage work will be completed in another two months at the most".

He added that the expedition will use a specially constructed trawler and a launch for the operations. Of the articles recovered, he said, it was expected that several, especially o historic interest, will be placed in museums.

The tube, which was invented by Mr. Lake shortly before the outbreak of the World War, was to have been used for the salvaging of the British frigate Lutine in the English Channel. It is now at Brightlingsea, England, following a series of deep-sea tests. It is 5 feet in diameter, but the observation chamber is 8 feet wide and capable of holding several persons at the same time. Bothe American and English divers, Mr. Lewis said, would be employed in the work. He estimated that the water pressure would be approximately 85 pounds, and that divers would be able to work without difficulty.

The salvage vessel Artigli II, which has been used on the sunken liner Egypt, had far more serious conditions to meet. The Egypt lies in 400 feet of water.

The Lusitania was torpedoed at 2 p. m., by the German submarine U-20, Commander Walther Schweiger, and sank in eighteen minutes. Of the 1198 persons who lost their lives 124 were Americans, including Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Charles Frohman and Elbert Hubbard.

A number of other salvage attempts have been announced during the past ten years, but no action has been taken.

NIGHT CHICK THIEF WAS DINNER GUEST

A warrant was issued here Tuesday for the arrest of W. M. Maschino, formerly of the southern end of this county, for the theft of 30 chickens rom M. O. Groclose of Randles. After missing his chickens, Grosclose started out on the hunt of his chickens and Maschino, accompanied by Louis Matthews, also of Randles. They located their man in Oran in a drunken condition driving an automobile. He was arrested and take to jail in Benton, charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

In Maschino's car Grosclose found chicken feathers which looked to be the same color as those of his stolen chickens. He went to Sikeston and found where the chickens had been sold and identified them as his own. He received pay for his chickens, but feels badly peeved over the manner in which he was treated.

Groclose says that Maschino worked for him for a number of years and that they became, as he thought, very good friends. On Sunday his former farm hand called at his place and remained for dinner. To renew an old friendship, a splendid dinner was prepared for the visitor, including mutton and all that goes with it to appeal to the appetite of a hungry man. They spent a most pleasant day, so Groclose says, but all ties of friendship were broken that night when about one o'clock in the morning Maschino returned and stole 30 of his host's chickens.

He will probably be left for the Scott County authorities to prosecute on the charge filed against him there, as it is a felony charge, the same as the one stealing chickens at night in this county.—Jackson Cash-Book.

The water clocks, or Clepsydra, used by the Egyptians, Chinese, Greeks and Romans, were the earliest forms of time-measuring devices constructed by mankind.

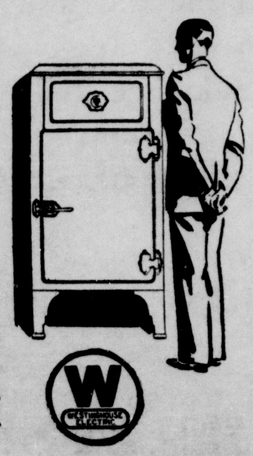

The late Hetty Green was economical to a fault, as everyone knows, but not everyone knows that her birth, given by her as 1835, was wrong, and that she was really born in 1834, for true to her habits of economy, she tried to save a year thereby.

The Standard editor enjoyed a visit from B. F. Acord, near Matthews, Saturday forenoon. We certainly appreciated the compliments paid The Standard as a newspaper. In 1927 Mr. Acord stated his entire crop was destroyed by water, and in 1928 only a small crop matured. The year just closing gave him bountiful crops, but prices low. His corn crop amounted to 4500 bushels, his peas 275 bushels and he has 32 head of hogs weighing 250 pounds with a low market. He was not complaining as he still has his corn, peas and hogs and is hoping for a better market.

"It was a wonderful wedding. The girls was as sweet as any girl who ever lived; but modern. As she walked up the aisle on her father's arm, her lips lightly tilted at the corners with a happy smile, she was a picture of modest beauty. Her filmy wedding gown and gossamer veil floated around her fair blond head like a halo. She was as nearly an angel as girls get to be in this world. At the altar as she passed from her father, the man she always loved, to the other man whom she would devote the rest of her life, her dainty slipper touched a potted lily resting on the floor and turned it over. Smiling again, she turned to the dear old pastor waiting at the chancel, and said: 'That was a h—l of a place to put a lily".—Shelbina Democrat.

Senator Glass of Virginia declares that there will be a showdown on his charges that Bishop Cannon's bucket-shop broker was promised a parole from Federal prison through bribery and to avoid the necessity of putting the bishop on the witness stand. Ordinarily, Bishop Cannon would have no difficulty disposing of such a matter, but his usual defense doesn't work in the case of the Virginia senator, who happens to beong to the same church as the bishop.—St. Louis Star.

Financial circles are said to be "cheered" by the decrease in hoarding money. A man who gave away two million dollars or so, died a few days ago in Washington. He did not believe in hoarding. A half-dozen persons were interested enough in him to attend his burial. The incident dose not detract from the beauty and utility of generosity. It is, however, a somewhat pointed reminder that beneficiaries often become so "cheered" by benefits received, that the misfortunes of thir benefactor are too gloomy for them.

FIRE LOSSES ARE TAX ON EVERY PERSON

In a recent public announcement, President Hoover declared the "fire losses are, in effect, a tax on every man, woman and child in the United States". He further asserted that 'this is one case where the 'taxpayers', entirely by their own efforts, can reduce the tax".

Commenting on the foregoing statements, a bulletin just issued by the Fire Prevention Division of the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin points out that providing for powerful waterworks and distributing systems far beyond the needs for domestic use involves a heavy direct tax. Not only this, but buying fire station sites, erecting station buildings, purchasing costly apparatus, the maintenance of buildings and equipment, and the salaries paid to fire-fighting forces mean more direct taxes.

Schools, hospitals and other public institutions are constructed and maintained with public funds, and the fire insurance premiums come from the same sources—the taxpayers. When one of these buildings burn, the taxpayers are called upon to foot the bill, over and above the insurance moneys received.

All readily admit these taxes, but do not fully comprehend that fire insurance itself is a tax. Manufacturerers, jobbers, wholesalers and retailers pass on their fire insurance costs to the ultimate purchaser and consumer. The price you pay for every commodity caries with it an item of insurance costs, the same as for all other overhead expenses, so that even the man who carries no fire insurance cannot escape this insurance tax. The bulletin in question emphasizes the fact that "burned buildings pay no taxes, and other taxes are increased in consequenve".

The national fire loss amounted to $499,700,000 last year, these figures not taking into account the many incidental losses that the owner of a home, store, factory or shop sustained when his property is destroyed by fire. Sadder still is the tax on human life, 10,217 persons being burned to death in 1930, a large majority of them women and children.

The bulletin above referred to stresses the point that "three-fourths of all fires are due to carelessness or easily preventable causes", and calls upon the public to "stop this preventable loss and reduce this enormous tax".

A roadhouse over in New Madrid County, bearing the name "Rodeo", was the scene of a real roundup last Friday night, even though the proprietors did not stage the affair. Sheriff Stanley presided as master of ceremonies and twenty-five heifers, bulls and a few yearlings were loaded into truck and were led to slaughter in a J. P. court at New Madrid—Malden Merit.

It is a sad thing to a fellow in jail we expect, but there are some funny things to the outsider. A white man was locked up Saturday for being drunk and kept yelling: "Let me out! Let me out! I'm in a hurry".

Mrs. E. W. Wilson of Kewanee entered the hospital Monday morning for treatment.

Miss Marjorie Poe of Charleston underwent an operation for appendicitis last Saturday night. Her condition Monday was reported to be satisfactory.

TURKEY SHOOTING IS POPULAR NOVEMBER SPORT

Scarcity of wild turkey isn't hindering the Nimrod from earning, or trying to ern, his Thanksgiving dinner by his marksmanship.

November, especially during the last few days before Thanksgiving, is the big turkey hunting month. Few parts of the country, however, can today boast of anything approaching a bountiful supply of game turkey but what the shooter lacks in opportunity supply of game turkey but to bag his holiday dinner on the wing is more than compensated for by the opportunity to acquire it by his target skill. Everywhere in the country target turkey shoots have come into increasing popularity.

Years ago it was the custom in turkey matches to place a live turkey in a box, allowing its head to protrude as a target. The shooter who cleaved its head with a bullet was the winner. That sort of turkey shooting, however, no longer has the favor of the sportsman because of its unsportsmanlike cruelty.

Marksmen now test their skill by attempting to hit a pencil mark at fifty or one hundred paces. One of the many such contests will be held at the Miner Community grounds all day Tuesday, November 24.

Turkeys are most profitable if they are well developed, fattened, and ready for market at about 26 weeks of age.

Many turkey producers now buy poults from commercial hatcheries instead of hatching the eggs with a turkey hen or other broody hen.

In clearing up evolution to the satisfaction of everybody, a newspaper quotes someone as saying: "We are compelled to return to a creative concept of evolution. For this concept the term 'aristogenesis' is provisionally suggested until the classicists can furnish us with a single term signifying the creative origin of the adaptive". He may be right, but as a general enlightener of humanity, an advertiser in an adjoining column is to be prefered. He states his case thus: "Cash paid for false teeth".

Eighty-four cents was the amount The Standard received for its part of the costs on a $12.50 account for publishing a tax notice, which didn't pay for putting it in type. In future newspapers should refuse to be used for tax publications unless the County Court will guarantee the bill.

Expert Attention to Your Electrical Needs
by People You Know

EVEYONE has many thanks to offer to the Supreme Being this year. Thanks for Health, for Life, for Happiness and for a measure of Prosperity, that, in comparison with other peoples is bountiful. Thanks for the many inventions that have made life easier—the business of Living more pleasant.

THE Missouri Utilities Company is thankful this year for the privilege of rendering the service that has done more than any other one thing to lessen Life's burden's . . . ELECTRICITY. Practically everything we use . . . wearing apparel, food and the privilege of brilliant lights at night, as well as the wonderful radio programs . . . are manufactured with ELECTRIC POWER. And we are proud of the fact that our distribution of Electricity in Sikeston and Southeast Missouri is unequalled anywhere.

EXPECT RECORD CROWD FOR ANNUAL GAME THURSDAY

The annual Turkey Day football game between Sikeston and Charleston, scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock on the local gridiron, is expected to draw a record crowd of followers according to Roy V. Ellise, superintendent of schools. Special invitations to merchants asking that plans be made to allow clerks and other employees to attend, and letters of invitation to old grads have been sent asking their co-operation to make the annual affair a success.

Sikeston, under the leadership of Coach Bill Miller, must win the game Thursday in order to split even on their conference schedule, having won three and lost four games.

The squad has been showing constant improvement this week, especially in charging, blocking and pass defensive work. There will be no let-down in preparations for the game, according to Miller. Charleston defeated the Bulldogs in their early season clash on the away field.

Probable starters against the Bluejays judging from performance this week are: Buddy Thrower at center, Cunningham and Albert Mull at guard, Kelly Humes and Harrison Tanner, tackle and A. B. Moll and Bob Jackson at end posts.

In the backfield, Miller will probably start P. D. Malone, the flyweight ball lugger at quarter, Sparky Nicholson and Dago Albright at halfback positions, and Caldwell, fullback. The latter has been showing better form lately in punting, and line work. Albright is suffering from an injury sustained early in the season, but will probably be among the first string men to see action.

David Keasler has received much attention in the past few weeks at tackle and guard positions, and is slated to see action in the Turkey Day clash. Young will no doubt, also see plenty of action before the close of the contest.

Heretofore it has made litte difference as to the relative standing of the two teams, Charleston and Sikeston. Whenever the two meet, the conference standing is forgotten. Old-time rivalry exists when the Bulldog meets the Jay, and this contest Thursday will be no exception.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Davis of Fredericktown spent Sunday here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Nash.

Judge and Mrs. Wallace Applegate will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Anderson of Commerce for Thanksgiving.

QUAKER STATE Superfine LUBRICANTS

Place a smooth, protecting, compelling finger exactly on each moving part of your car which needs a special lubricant

1 Quaker State Pressure Gun Lubricant—This chassis lubricant is water resisting and is slow to dissolve or wash off. It handles perfectly from any well-made grease pressure gun, and lubricates, and lubricates, and lubricates.

2 Quaker State Gear Lubricant and Transmission Oils— Extremely adhesive lubricant which clings persistently to whirring gears. Scientifically prepared to overcome difficulties ordinarily encountered in the lubrication of Free Wheeling, Synchromesh and Four Speed Transmissions.

3 Quaker State Number Three Lubricant— A high grade water insoluble grease for general use in grease cups.

4 Quaker State Hypoid Gear Lubricant (Lead Base)— Gears, such as the Hypoid, Spiral, Herringbone and Worm type require this extremely specialized product. The lead base assures protection to gear surfaces where high gear pressure is present.

5 Quaker State Universal Lubricant— Is one of the few lubricants approved by the makers of Spicer Universal Joints. The grease must be especially adhesive to keep from being thrown off by the rapidly revolving Universal Joint.

6 Quaker State Water-Proof Lubricant—This is the ideal water pump lubricant. Will not wash off or enter the circulation system of the motor. Use wherever grease is exposed to the action of water.

7 Quaker State Wheel Bearing Lubricant— Average cup or pressure grease is too soft for lubrication of automobile wheel bearings. A fairly hard, fibrous grease is needed to adhere to the bearings and to keep from coating the brake linings.

Complete Quaker State Superfine Greasing Service is the latest, most efficient method of automobile lubrication. Ask for it next time you have your car serviced.

Interion Of Liner Manhattan Creates New Note In Design

SPACIOUS SALONS IN PERIOD STYLES

In planning the interiors of the new Manhattan, largest ship ever built in America, now under construction at Camden, N. J., for the United tates Lines, the decorators have created unusually attractive period designs to secure diversification in the public rooms for this new American ship which will be the most modern on the seas.

The grand salon—in the Georgian style—will be exquisitely panneled in light walnut with carved ornaments in antique gold. A great domed ceiling in ivory tones will contain mural decorations said to be unique for ships. The lighting will be indirecet with Georgian candle brackets in the side walls. The floor of the Grand Salon, of hardwood suitable for dancing, will be covered with large oriental rugs. The furniture and draperies will be in keeping with the period.

Grand Dining Salon

The grand dining salon is Louis XVI with ceilings and walls tinted in pastel tones of ivory, lod rose and powder blue picked up in gold. The ceiling will have striking murals and in the room will be decorative paintings suitable to the period. The orchestra gallery will have powder blue curtains with a wrought iron balustrading. The lighting in the upper part of the dining salon will be indirect while the lower part of the rooms will have special fixtures and side brackets. Chairs will be in French walnut upholstered in a specially woven old rose fabric.

The smoking loungee will be early American Indian with an Aztec influence panelled in inlaid hardwoods of color. A center dome and skylight with murals of Indian history and a real fireplace will provide a most unusual touch.

Many Public Rooms

The palm court on the new vessel will be done in Chinese Chippendale with murals and indirect lighting. This room will be tones of old golds, blues and sealing wax red. The furniture is being specially designed.

The library will be of the Tudor period with ceilings painted in imitation of old plaster of that period. Walls panelled in old English oak and a carpeted floor. The writing room will be a modern adaptation of the Sheraton period with panelled walls.

The swimming pool will have decorations depicting marine life and walls of sea green. The walk-way around the pool will be imitation of rippling sand.

Cabin foyers will be in a modernistic adaptation of Italian Renaissance. The walls of the foyers and stairways will be pannelled in selected hardwood.

The verandah cafe with the Pompeian influence predominating will provide an additional room for social activities on the upper deck.

The interior designs have been created by the Walter M. Ballard Co., decorators, of New York and Washington.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM MORLEY

The sale at J. T. Smith's on Kluge Hill Thursday, was well attended.

Mrs. F. E. Black and son, Don, of Vanduser were Morley visitors Saturday afternoon.

The Baptist W. M. S. will meet with Mrs. C. A. Stallings Wednesday in a program meeting.

Mrs. Josephine Watson is visiting her daughters, Mesdames Ray and Henry Shores, at Chaffee.

Oliver Randol, and two daughters and son of Malden were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Earles, Saturday.

Benton was the victor in each game of basketball at the gym Friday night with a score of 19 to 16 for boys.

Mrs. Eugenia Tomlinson returned home Saturday, after a month's visit with her sister at Cape Girardeau.

Joyce Emerson, manager of a cotton gin at Braggadocio, spent a few days in Morley during the rainy season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beardslee and children and Miss Emma Beardslee went to Rector, Ark., Wednesday to visit at the H. B. Beardslee home.

Fifteen pupils of the Morley High School were at Cape Girardeau Saturday to attend the course in play writing given at Southeast Missouri Teachers' College.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Keesee went to St. Louis the first of the week, where Mr. Keesee entered Barnes' Hospital and will probably undergo an operation to remove a cancer from his eyeball.

R. R. Sullivan has purchased the filling station owned by Mrs. Flora Daugherty north of the Missouri Pacific railroad and will move it to the lot where J. R. Lee's store burned about three years ago.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Cunningham, Mrs. B. F. Earles and C. A. Stallings were at Sikeston Friday night to attend a meeting of delegates from the various churches of the Charleston Baptist Association. Dr. E. Godbold, State Secretary of Missions, was the speaker.

Harold Nations and Miss Julia Cannon were married Monday night and have started to housekeeping in Cape Girardeau, where the groom has a garage. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cannon, a graduate of Morley high school in 1930 and a young lady of enviable reputation. The groom is a young man of excellent habits and their many friends wish for the couple a long and happy life.

Mrs. Hal Boyce and Mrs. Maude Daugherty were the hostesses for the Morley Study Club at their regular monthly meeting Friday. Interesting reports of the Ninth District Meeting were given by the delegates after which Mrs. Lutie Leslie led a splendid program on Canada, assisted by Mrs. Harris Foster, Mrs. Anna Beardslee and Mrs. U. G. Ragains. Mrs. Beardslee having visited Canada last year, furnished much interesting information. The plate lunch served by the hostesses was delicious.

LOCAL INDEPENDENTS MAY PLAY FARMINGTON THERE TURKEY DAY

Arrangements have been practically completed with the Sikeston Independent football team to meet the Farmington Independents here on Thanksgiving Day. The Sikeston team is one of the strongest aggregations in Southeast Missouri and is just completing a very successful season. In their line-up appear stars of the former championship teams of Sikeston high school.

The game which will be a turkey day feature will call together representatives of these two towns for the first time in nearly ten years. The last game to be played was an independent game here in which the locals won, 6-0. It is hoped that the locals can duplicate this feat. The arrangements call for a return game to be played at Sikeston the first week in December.

The local squad is in good shape after their two-week layoff following their first game which they won from Fredericktown.—Farmington News.

CHARLESON MISSION GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

Charleston, November 21.—The Emma K. Wilson Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Charleston met Thursday evening and elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year:

Chairman—Mrs. Emma Clack
Secretary—Miss Virginia Heggie
Treasurer—Miss Louise Ogilvie
Supt. of Supplies—Miss Ellen Love
Supt. of Mission Study—Miss Myrtle Goodin
Supt. of Publicity—Miss Ellen Ruth Heggie
Supt. of Social Service—Miss Ella Bush Oliver

The forests of the United States are being cut four times as fast as they are being planted, says the Forest Service.

SUIT SEEKS TO COMPEL STATE TO BRIDGE LAKE OF OZARKS

Jefferson City, November 20.—A mandamus suit to compel the State Highway Commission to construct a bridge to carry Highway No. 5 across the Lake of The Ozarks, formed by the hydro-electric power dam near Bagnell, Mo., was filed in Cole County Circuit Court today on behalf of Camden County. The ends of Highway No. 5 now are on the north and south banks of the lake and the only means of crossing is by a toll ferry, south of Gravois Mills, Morgan County. The ferry crossing is several miles above the dam.

Highway No. 5 was carried across the Osage River on a toll bridge near the townsite of Linn Creek, now inundated, before the power dam was built.

Circuit Judge Stillwell set the case for hearing here on December 5.

MORLEY MASONS BUY LIJE DAUGHERTY BUILDING

Friday night the Morley Masonic lodge, in session at Commerce, decided to buy the old Lije Daugherty building at Morley and fix up same for a meeting place. A committee composed of Harris Foster, Rex Boyce and T. H. Lett was appointed to proceed with the work of putting new sheet iron on the exterior, building new stairs and attend to other necessary repairs.

The building is centrally located in Morley, two-story and when completed will make excellent quarters for the lodge and also the Eastern Star.

The move is a good one for the town as it preserves a building that might otherwise rot away.

The structure was used for lodge purposes until 1922, when the Masons and Star members moved to the Harrison-Beardslee building, which was destroyed by fire a few months ago. —Benton Democrat.

How To Make Money

C. D. Matthews, Sr., a few years ago sold Ewell H. Barger and M. G. Gresham 480 acres of land on the south end of Big Opening at $50 per acre; all on credit. Within three years they did not owe him a penny and they had FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS in cash. The opportunity now is ten times better to make money than it was then. If you have, or can raise $1,000, see and talk with M. G. Gresham. He'll show you how to make $10,000 out of it in a few years. No, it's not a pipe dream, it's as certain as death and taxes. RUN-DOWN and WEAK

"I began taking Cardui when in a weakened, run-down condition," writes Mrs. F. S. Perrit, of Wesson, Miss. "I took one bottle, and I seemed to improve so much that I sent for six bottles. After I had taken the six bottles, I seemed entirely well.

"Before I took Cardui, I was nervous, restless, blue and out of heart. I felt depressed all the time. After I took Cardui, all this disappeared.

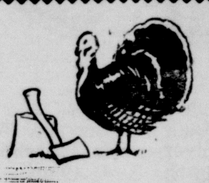

"I gave my daughter Cardui and it helped to relieve irregular . . ."

Interion Of Liner Manhattan Creates New Note In Design

SPACIOUS SALONS IN PERIOD STYLES

In planning the interiors of the new Manhattan, largest ship ever built in America, now under construction at Camden, N. J., for the United tates Lines, the decorators have created unusually attractive period designs to secure diversification in the public rooms for this new American ship which will be the most modern on the seas.

The grand salon—in the Georgian style—will be exquisitely panneled in light walnut with carved ornaments in antique gold. A great domed ceiling in ivory tones will contain mural decorations said to be unique for ships. The lighting will be indirecet with Georgian candle brackets in the side walls. The floor of the Grand Salon, of hardwood suitable for dancing, will be covered with large oriental rugs. The furniture and draperies will be in keeping with the period.

Grand Dining Salon

The grand dining salon is Louis XVI with ceilings and walls tinted in pastel tones of ivory, lod rose and powder blue picked up in gold. The ceiling will have striking murals and in the room will be decorative paintings suitable to the period. The orchestra gallery will have powder blue curtains with a wrought iron balustrading. The lighting in the upper part of the dining salon will be indirect while the lower part of the rooms will have special fixtures and side brackets. Chairs will be in French walnut upholstered in a specially woven old rose fabric.

The smoking loungee will be early American Indian with an Aztec influence panelled in inlaid hardwoods of color. A center dome and skylight with murals of Indian history and a real fireplace will provide a most unusual touch.

Many Public Rooms

The palm court on the new vessel will be done in Chinese Chippendale with murals and indirect lighting. This room will be tones of old golds, blues and sealing wax red. The furniture is being specially designed.

The library will be of the Tudor period with ceilings painted in imitation of old plaster of that period. Walls panelled in old English oak and a carpeted floor. The writing room will be a modern adaptation of the Sheraton period with panelled walls.

The swimming pool will have decorations depicting marine life and walls of sea green. The walk-way around the pool will be imitation of rippling sand.

Cabin foyers will be in a modernistic adaptation of Italian Renaissance. The walls of the foyers and stairways will be pannelled in selected hardwood.

The verandah cafe with the Pompeian influence predominating will provide an additional room for social activities on the upper deck.

The interior designs have been created by the Walter M. Ballard Co., decorators, of New York and Washington.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM MORLEY

The sale at J. T. Smith's on Kluge Hill Thursday, was well attended.

Mrs. F. E. Black and son, Don, of Vanduser were Morley visitors Saturday afternoon.

The Baptist W. M. S. will meet with Mrs. C. A. Stallings Wednesday in a program meeting.

Mrs. Josephine Watson is visiting her daughters, Mesdames Ray and Henry Shores, at Chaffee.

Oliver Randol, and two daughters and son of Malden were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Earles, Saturday.

Benton was the victor in each game of basketball at the gym Friday night with a score of 19 to 16 for boys.

Mrs. Eugenia Tomlinson returned home Saturday, after a month's visit with her sister at Cape Girardeau.

Joyce Emerson, manager of a cotton gin at Braggadocio, spent a few days in Morley during the rainy season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beardslee and children and Miss Emma Beardslee went to Rector, Ark., Wednesday to visit at the H. B. Beardslee home.

Fifteen pupils of the Morley High School were at Cape Girardeau Saturday to attend the course in play writing given at Southeast Missouri Teachers' College.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Keesee went to St. Louis the first of the week, where Mr. Keesee entered Barnes' Hospital and will probably undergo an operation to remove a cancer from his eyeball.

R. R. Sullivan has purchased the filling station owned by Mrs. Flora Daugherty north of the Missouri Pacific railroad and will move it to the lot where J. R. Lee's store burned about three years ago.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Cunningham, Mrs. B. F. Earles and C. A. Stallings were at Sikeston Friday night to attend a meeting of delegates from the various churches of the Charleston Baptist Association. Dr. E. Godbold, State Secretary of Missions, was the speaker.

Harold Nations and Miss Julia Cannon were married Monday night and have started to housekeeping in Cape Girardeau, where the groom has a garage. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cannon, a graduate of Morley high school in 1930 and a young lady of enviable reputation. The groom is a young man of excellent habits and their many friends wish for the couple a long and happy life.

Mrs. Hal Boyce and Mrs. Maude Daugherty were the hostesses for the Morley Study Club at their regular monthly meeting Friday. Interesting reports of the Ninth District Meeting were given by the delegates after which Mrs. Lutie Leslie led a splendid program on Canada, assisted by Mrs. Harris Foster, Mrs. Anna Beardslee and Mrs. U. G. Ragains. Mrs. Beardslee having visited Canada last year, furnished much interesting information. The plate lunch served by the hostesses was delicious.

KIWANIS CLUB ELECTS

Charleston, November 21.—At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club held this week the following new officers were chosen to serve for the year 1932:

President—A. D. Simpson
Vice President—D. D. Hill
Trustee—T. W. Gwaltney

The Sikeston Standard, $1.50

LOCAL INDEPENDENTS MAY PLAY FARMINGTON THERE TURKEY DAY

Arrangements have been practically completed with the Sikeston Independent football team to meet the Farmington Independents here on Thanksgiving Day. The Sikeston team is one of the strongest aggregations in Southeast Missouri and is just completing a very successful season. In their line-up appear stars of the former championship teams of Sikeston high school.

The game which will be a turkey day feature will call together representatives of these two towns for the first time in nearly ten years. The last game to be played was an independent game here in which the locals won, 6-0. It is hoped that the locals can duplicate this feat. The arrangements call for a return game to be played at Sikeston the first week in December.

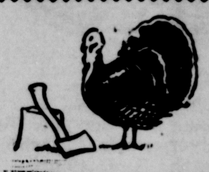

The local squad is in good shape after their two-week layoff following their first game which they won from Fredericktown.—Farmington News.

CHARLESON MISSION GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

Charleston, November 21.—The Emma K. Wilson Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Charleston met Thursday evening and elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year:

Chairman—Mrs. Emma Clack
Secretary—Miss Virginia Heggie
Treasurer—Miss Louise Ogilvie
Supt. of Supplies—Miss Ellen Love
Supt. of Mission Study—Miss Myrtle Goodin
Supt. of Publicity—Miss Ellen Ruth Heggie
Supt. of Social Service—Miss Ella Bush Oliver

SUIT SEEKS TO COMPEL STATE TO BRIDGE LAKE OF OZARKS

Jefferson City, November 20.—A mandamus suit to compel the State Highway Commission to construct a bridge to carry Highway No. 5 across the Lake of The Ozarks, formed by the hydro-electric power dam near Bagnell, Mo., was filed in Cole County Circuit Court today on behalf of Camden County. The ends of Highway No. 5 now are on the north and south banks of the lake and the only means of crossing is by a toll ferry, south of Gravois Mills, Morgan County. The ferry crossing is several miles above the dam.

Highway No. 5 was carried across the Osage River on a toll bridge near the townsite of Linn Creek, now inundated, before the power dam was built.

Circuit Judge Stillwell set the case for hearing here on December 5.

MORLEY MASONS BUY LIJE DAUGHERTY BUILDING

Friday night the Morley Masonic lodge, in session at Commerce, decided to buy the old Lije Daugherty building at Morley and fix up same for a meeting place. A committee composed of Harris Foster, Rex Boyce and T. H. Lett was appointed to proceed with the work of putting new sheet iron on the exterior, building new stairs and attend to other necessary repairs.

The building is centrally located in Morley, two-story and when completed will make excellent quarters for the lodge and also the Eastern Star.

The move is a good one for the town as it preserves a building that might otherwise rot away.

The structure was used for lodge purposes until 1922, when the Masons and Star members moved to the Harrison-Beardslee building, which was destroyed by fire a few months ago. —Benton Democrat.

How To Make Money

C. D. Matthews, Sr., a few years ago sold Ewell H. Barger and M. G. Gresham 480 acres of land on the south end of Big Opening at $50 per acre; all on credit. Within three years they did not owe him a penny and they had FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS in cash. The opportunity now is ten times better to make money than it was then. If you have, or can raise $1,000, see and talk with M. G. Gresham. He'll show you how to make $10,000 out of it in a few years. No, it's not a pipe dream, it's as certain as death and taxes.
